HIS ACCOUNTS STRAIGHT.

Nyack, N. Y., May 25.—An accusation was made against Assmblyman Frank P. Dmarest last year that hi saccounts with the Rocklan Industrial association, of which he was president, were not straight.

A committee of two republicans and one democrat was appointed by the association to investigate the accounts, and they now report that instead of a shortage they find he association indebted to Mr. Demarest over $1,000.

DEMOCRATS AT BAT

Rousing Conventions in Various States.

Watterson Fighting Cleveland in Kentucky,

But the Ex-President Leads, Nevertheless.

The Northwest a Unit for the Old Leader.

South Dakota Lifts Up Her Voice and Cries Aloud for a Man to Deliver Them from High Taxes.

Denver, Col., May 25.—The hotels are crowded with delegates to the democratic state convention which assembles this afternoon. This morning the delegates to Chicago from districts are being elected, no district conventions having been held.

The free silver men appear to be largely in the majority, and the indications point to an uninstructed delegation to Chicago, favoring any candidate who is in accord with the democracy of Colorado on the silver question.

Washington.

Vancouver, Wash., May 25.—The state democratic convention opened here this afternoon. The delegation to Chicago will be unanimous for Cleveland, the few prominent Hill men who were active a month ago have given up in disgust.

Many of the county democratic conventions have refused to approve any candidates for national delegates until they had all publicly avowed themselves for Cleveland.

Kaintuck.

Louisville, Ky., May 25.—The democratic state convention which assembled here at noon promises to be one of the most interesting held in this state in recent years.

Henry Watterson is determined that the delegation to Chicago shall be in line for Senator Hill, while ex-Gov. Proctor Knott and ex-Attorney General Harding and other leaders are just as determined that the Blue Grass state shall loom up solidly for ex-President Cleveland.

The latter, it is claimed, has a large majority of the delegates in the convention, although the indications are that there are enough of the opposition to make music. Ex-Gov. Proctor Knott has recently returned from a trip through the northwest, and says that the democratic feeling in that section of the country for Cleveland is absolutely universal, and that he does not believe that anyone else will be placed in serious nomination before the convention.

Henry Watterson will be one of the delegates, together with World's Fair Commissioner McKenzie. The delegates from about 35 counties favor an unrestricted delegation free to declare its choice by the conditions existing at the time of the Chicago convention, while the balance are about equally divided between Cleveland and Carlisle.

A sensational feature of the fight cropped out yesterday when at a private meeting of the Cleveland forces the name of Gen. John B. Castleman, chairman of the state central committee, was placed before the convention as one of the delegates-at-large. He was indorsed as the choice of Cleveland's friends. The action meant war. Louisville, it is well understood, cannot land two delegates-at-large. The convention would never agree to this. Henry Watterson and Gen. Castleman will fight it out. At the meeting which indorsed the latter yesterday many of the most prominent democrats in the state and city were present. They were the friends of Cleveland and seemed to fully recognize the fact that Mr. Watterson was dead against them. This afternoon in the convention these scions of democracy will fight it out.

New Jersey.

Trenton, N. J., May 25.—The democratic state convention for the purpose of electing delegates to Chicago was called to order at Taylor opera house at noon by Hon. Allen McDermott. Hon. James Swift, jr., was made temporary chairman, and in a ringing address prophesied democratic victory this fall.

An allusion to ex-President Cleveland was received with loud and long continued applause. This afternoon the convention will select a solid Cleveland delegation, notwithstanding the fact that up to a few days ago Gov. Leon Abbett and his friends were avowed supporters of Senator Hill.

The explanation given for the sudden change which has been led by United States Senators McPherson and Blodgett, is that Cleveland is needed to hold the state next fall, owing to the wrong campaign that the republicans made in the recent municipal elections, and which they propose to continue until November. The result of the Jersey City election has convinced the democratic leaders that hard work will be necessary from now on, and that it will not be safe to go into the campaign with a new and vulnerable standard bearer.

When it became generally known that an agreement had been reached against instructing, some of the enthusiastic Cleveland men threatened to bring in a resolution of instructions from one of the county delegation meetings and put it through with a hurrah. The matter was the subject of much heated controversy. Meantime street vendors were doing a good business in Cleveland badges. Twelve o'clock was the hour iamed for the convention to assemble. The opera house had been decorated lavishly for the occasion. A portrait of George Washington on a flag draped easel, stood on one side of the stage which was hung with bunting and flags.

At a late hour last night it was determined by the leaders of to-day's democratic state convention to name delegates to Chicago that the convention would not be asked to instruct for Cleveland. But some fear is expressed that a resolution of instructions would be sprung. It would be hard to keep it from going through as the Cleveland men have a large majority of the delegates.

South Dakota.

Yankton, S. D., May 25.—The democratic state convention will be called to order at 4 o'clock this afternoon at Turner hall by Hon. Otto Teemiller. All the delegates are on the ground, and interviews with them indicate that Cleveland is the almost unanimous choice. At the same time the sentiment is favorable to the eight delegates going to Chicago uninstructed. This is the first time that the South Dakota democrats have had a voice in the choice of a candidate for the presidency of the United States, and the convention will therefore be one of the most interesting in the history of the Dakotas. Hon. Bartlett Tripp, of Yankton, will head the delegation.

NEW CORPORATIONS.

Columbus, O., May 25.—The following articles of incorporation were filed to-day: The Independent Master Builders of Cincinnati, O.; the Inventors' Commercial Agency, Findlay; the Aversville Cemetery Association, Aversville; the Eagle Building and Loan Co.; Ironton, capital stock $100,000; the General Club, Order or Associated Clubs of North America, Cincinnati.

PRESBYTERIANS.

Dr. McPherson Gives the Assembly Some Good Advice.

Portland, Ore., May 25.—The Presbyterian assembly occupied the session yesterday with the discussion of the subject of home missions. Dr. S. J. McPherson, of Chicago, presented a report of the work accomplished in the past year. He urged the assembly to spend less time splitting hairs over doctrinal questions, to be less penurious in their offerings for home missionary work, and to devote renewed labor to the evangelization. Dr. Irwin, one of the home secretaries of the home board, followed with an earnest address, and after him came several home missionaries.

SPEAKS FROM EXPERIENCE

Bishop Fitzgerald Talks on the Color Line.

Northern Methodists Don't Practice

What They Preach—The Dividing Line is Stronger in the North Than it is in the South and Always Will Be.

Atlanta, Ga., May 25.—The Northern Methodist general conference, in session at Omaha, recently took action by a rising vote denouncing the people of the south, and calling for interference in regard to their treatment of the negro.

Bishop Fitzgerald, the Southern Methodist chairman, who has recently made Atlanta his headquarters, was asked his views in regard to the action of the Omaha conference.

"There is practically no difference," said the bishop in answer to the question that opened the subject, "between the northern and southern people in regard to the color line. It is drawn as unmistakably in one section as it is in the other.

The people of the north declaim against caste and race distinctions, but they draw the line just as closely as we do in the south. They will listen, it is true, to a black orator on the platform and applaud him to the echo, especially if he is a little caustic in his allusions to the southern people, but they do not invite him to their parties, however charming he may be in conversation, nor do they ask him to their homes however congenial he may be socially.

"They never think or intermarriage with him, and there is not a white congregation in the north that is served by a colored preacher.

"They have done a great deal for the negro for which they deserve credit, but their talk about the arbitration of caste is flatly contradicted by their practice. The negro delegates in their general conference now in session demand the election of a negro bishop, but there is not the slightest probability that any child now living will ever see a negro bishop presiding over a white conference of the Methodist church. The situation is extremely embarrassing, and I wish them a happy deliverance from the dilemma in which they have placed themselves."

"Regarding the recent lynching of negroes by southern mobs," resumed the bishop, after a meditative pause, "two or three things may be properly said: First, that the unspeakable crime for which they were lynched outlaws the perpetrator, whether white or black, in every part of the United States."

"Frequent lynchings," continued the bishop, warming as he proceeded into the marrow of the interview, "have occurred from time to time in the north, but they appear to be forgotten entirely. The white man in the south who is guilty of the same crime meets an awful doom as swiftly as does the black man. It is notable that in all the spasms of indignation against the southern people because of these lynchings no word of sympathy has been spoken for the white women who were their victims."

"The fact is," went on the bishop, "that the ethnological distinction between the races is God's own work, and the best people of both races have no desire to obliterate the distinction. The amalgamation of the races would demoralize both and lead to the extirpation of the weaker. The best element of the negro race have no sympathy with the crimes that result in these outbreaks and they are beginning to realize that the southern people, among whom they live, are their truest friends. They have no desire to go where their professed friends are most numerous and noisy, but prefer to remain among the white people of the south. The southern people should have the sympathy, patient forbearance and help of the north. No people could have done better by the negroes while they were in bondage than was done by the people of the south. No people will do better by them now under the changed condition. The application of the golden rule will preserve and subserve the welfare of both races in the south."

COMMITTED SUICIDE.

Well Known Kentucky Man Driven to Death by Ill Health.

Danville, Ky., May 25.—Hon. William Berkel committed suicide at his home near Bryantsville, by cutting his throat with a razor. He has been in very bad health for nearly two years, and it is thought the act was committed while in a fit of temporary insanity, brought on by despondency.

He leaves a valuable estate and life insurance to the amount of $42,000. Mr. Berkel was twice a member of the Kentucky legislature, representing his county in the late constitutional convention, and was a delegate to two national republican conventions. A widow and five children, three grown, survive him.

HURON GRAND JURY.

Norwalk, O., May 25.—The grand jury finished its labors and reported to Judge Kelley the result of its deliberations. Sixty-six witnesses were examined, covering 20 cases, and 17 indictments were found. The jury also reported that it had visited the jail and found it clean, but that it needed painting and that some rule should be prescribed for the conduct of the prisoners.

Of the 17 indictments only three can at this time be made public as follows: Betsey Horton, adultery; Charles Monday, adultery; Mary A. Banks, petit larceny.

Blaine to Go to Bar Harbor and Remain There Until After the Convention.

New York, May 25.—The Sun this morning says: After the extended conversations which ex-Senator Platt, Whitelaw Reid, Gen. Horace Porter, and other republicans high in the councils of the party, had with Mr. Blaine yesterday, the closest friends of Mr. Platt said they had it from his own lips that Mr. Blaine had decided not to interfere with the presentation of his name before the convention at Minneapolis; that it was Mr. Blaine's intention not to return to Washington until after he convention, and that by the close of this week he would leave for Maine and go to Bar Harbor later on.

SHOP INSPECTORS.

The Toledo Man Not Yet Appointed.

Columbus, O., May 25.—Hon. W. Z. McDonald, chief inspector of shops and factories, has completed the arrangement of 11 new districts under the new law, and to-day gave out the names of eight assistants as follows: First district, Evan H. Davis, of Cuyahoga county; second, Chas. Burns, Trumbull county; sixth, A. M. True, Stark county; seventh, J. Matthews, Muskingum county; eighth, John H. Ellis; ninth, E. T. Ridenauer, Clark county; tenth, James A. Armstrong, Hamilton county. Messrs. Davis, Ellis and Armstrong are reappointments, they being the three assistants under the old law.

The district in which the city of Toledo is located is made up of the following counties: Ottawa, Wood, Lucas, Putnam, Henry, Fulton, Van Wert, Defiance and Williams, and will be known as the fourth district.

Mr. McDonald said it would be ten days or two weeks before he would announce the name of the assistant for this distict, as there were a great many applications on file, many of whom were worthy gentlemen and mechanics. He said, however, that he would visit Toledo and look over the ground thoroughly and whoever the appointee would be, he must be in sympathy with the administration and with the labor organizations of the district.

AN APPEAL FOR AID.

Illinois People Are Suffering for Food.

Gov. Fifer Inspects the Inundated Districts.

In Three Counties Eleven Million Dollars in Damage Has Been Caused — High Water in Arkansas.

Springfield, Ill., May 25.—Gov. Fifer has returned from an inspection of the inundated districts of Illinois and yesterday issued a proclamation calling upon the people of the state to contribute money, food and clothing for the relief of the sufferers from the floods.

According to a conservative estimate the damage done in Madison, St. Charles and St. Clair counties by the floods will foot up $11,000,000.

Arkansas City Flooded.

Arkansas City, Ark., May 25.—The city is completely under water. All the stores are flooded out and the tops of houses are visible only on the back streets. All trains on the Iron Mountain are abandoned on account of the bad condition of the bridge over Boggy bayou. All Iron Mountain cars have been removed from the yards at this city. The Panther forest break can stand one foot more here. The river is rising.

REFORM SCHOOLS.

An Interesting Meeting Being Held in Chicago.

Chicago, May 25.—The national conference of representatives of industrial and reform schools opened this morning at the Sherman house. Delegates from institutions of this character in Illinois, Wisconsin, Indiana, Iowa, Missouri, Michigan, Kentucky and Connecticut are in attendance.

The conference was called to order by Mrs. M. R. M. Wallace, president of the Illinois Industrial School for Girls, with a brief but hearty address of welcome.

She urged that the movement was one that should commend itself to philanthropists in general, and to those interested in education in particular. Prayer was offered by Dr. M. H. Harris, after which an address on the cottage system was delivered by J. D. Howe, of Meriden, Ct. Mrs. Sarah Keeley, of Indianapolis, gave her views regarding the best methods of reforming wayward girls. The convention will continue to-morrow.

GUILTY OF MURDER.

Mrs. Russell Convicted at Eau Claire.

She Was Charged With Poisoning the Wife of Her Hired Man—Circumstantial Evidence.

Eau Claire, Wis., May 25.—Mrs. Elizabeth Russell was found guilty of murder in the first degree. The jury, which had been out since 8:30 Monday night, came in at 9:30 last night. Mrs. Russell had been on trial here for three weeks on the charge of causing the death of Mrs. Bertha Erickson.

Mrs. Russell was in love with Erickson, who had been her hired man, and when the wife died it was suspected that she had been poisoned.

An autopsy showed this to be the case. Mrs. Russell was accused of administering the poison. Strong circumstantial evidence was given against her.

COMMENCING YOUNG.

Nashville, Tenn., May 25.—L. G. Thompson, jr., a 13-year old drug clerk, employed at Mecham's drug store, in South Nashville, was arrested on a charge of criminally assaulting Maggie Reese, an 8-year old colored girl. Young Thompson was subsequently released on bail.

GOES TO SEE THE BABY.

New York, May 25.—Mr. Blaine yesterday drove to the Damrosch house and saw for the first time his youngest grandchild. He didn't inquire about James G. Blaine, junior.

AT MANSFIELD.

A Large Gathering of the Fourteenth Ohio Republicans.

Mansfield, O., May 25.—The republican congressional convention of the Fourteenth district was called to order in this city at 11 o'clock to-day with a large attendance.

Hon. Henry C. Hedges, temporary chairman, delivered a brief address which was received with much enthusiasm. This district is now represented by Hon. M. D. Harter, democrat, who will be renominated without opposition next Tuesday. By the last gerrymander the district has been made republican by about 1,700.

There are three candidates for the nomination: Speaker L. C. Laylin, of Norwalk; ex-Senator W. S. Kerr, of Mansfield, and E. G. Johnson, of Elyria.

The honors are pretty evenly divided with the chances favoring Mr. Kerr's nomination.

MASONIC GRAND OFFICERS.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 25.—The grand lodge of Masons to-day elected the following officers: Grand master, Sidney Douglass, Evansville; deputy grand master, D. Noyes, Laporte; senior grand warden, Frank Gavin, Greensburg; junior grand warden, Edward O'Rourke, Fort Wayne; grand treasurer, Martin H. Rice, Indianapolis; trustees, W. B. Vanvolsby, Terre Haute; Calvin W. Prather, Anderson.

DEMOCRATS IN CAUCUS.

Appropriation Bills to be in the Lead.

After They Are Disposed of Congress Will be Ready to Adjourn for the Summer.

Washington, May 25.—Democrats of the house met in caucus last night for the purpose of considering the "order of business." The result was a decision to put the appropriation bill ahead of everything else and prepare for an adjournment of congress as early as practicable. There was an unusually large attendance, nearly every member in the city being present. Mr. Hatch, in the interest of the anti-options bill, fought the motion to give the appropriation bills precedence with great vigor and vehemence, but was outvoted by a large majority. He has not given up the fight, however, and it is very likely will oppose the appropriation bills on the floor of the house.

The conference was held in response to a call circulated by Mr. McMillan, of Tennessee. The speaker and the leading members of the majority in the house were anxious to push the appropriation bill forward as rapidly as possible, but Mr. Hatch announced his determination to antagonize their consideration with the anti-options bill, and the object of the caucus was to secure the further delay of discussion on the anti-options measure.

Soon after the caucus met Mr. McMillan, of Tennessee, offered a resolution providing that precedence should be given to the regular annual appropriation bills over all other bills. Mr. Hatch, in a live speech which created some ill-feeling, opposed the resolution. He insisted that the anti-options bill should be taken up after the sundry civil bill. He declared that the caucus had been called without due notice; that snap judgment had been taken, and said that he would not be bound by the caucus' action, but would antagonize the consideration of the appropriation bills on the floor and demand the yeas and nays on taking up the anti-options bill.

The river and harbor bill was brought into the discussion, and the caucus got into a parliamentary tangle over an amendment to the McMillan resolution offered by Mr. Clark, of Alabama, providing that the river and harbor bill should be included among the regular annual appropriation bills, having precedence over other measures.

Mr. Bynum, of Indiana, joined Mr. Hatch in opposition, and on the other side Messrs. McMillan, Sayers, of Texas; Blount and Dockery urged the wisdom of speedy action on the appropriation bills. Mr. Clark, on the assurance of a number of members, that the river and harbor bill was all right, and that it would not be injured by not being included in the McMillan resolution, withdrew his amendment, and the reslution to give the appropriation bills free right of way was then passed by a large majority.

Mr. Hooker, of Mississippi, offered a resolution directing the committee on rules to report a rule providing that whenever a member asks unanimous consent for the passage of any bill it shall be granted unless 10 members object. The object of the resolution was to put an obstacle in the way of objectors Watson and Kilgore. Opposition developed to the resolution, on the ground that it would make possible the measures which there might be good reasons to keep in the background, and it was lost. The caucus then adjourned.

TO GO TO CHICAGO.

Several Crack Regiments Want to See the Fair.

Columbus, O., May 25.—The Fourteenth Regiment, O. N. G., headquarters at Columbus, through its official has made formal tender of its services as escort to the governor at the dedicatory services of the World's fair at Chicago in October.

It is also learned from the adjutant general's office that the Seventeenth, Second, First, and Fifth are about to make the same tender.

The legislature last winter was asked for $1,500 to defray expenses of the O. N. G. to Chicago this fall, but they refused to grant the request, for the reason that the amount named would only subsist a small portion of the guard and the balance would either have to pay their own expenses or stay at home; so they wisely concluded to strike the amount from the appropriation bill and leave the entire guard on the same footing to pay their own expenses of the trip out of their regimental funds.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CHILDREN.

They Are Having a Holiday in Brooklyn.

Brooklyn, N. Y., May 25.—The City of Churches is en fete to-day in honor of Sunday School day, and 75,000 little ones with brass bands, and flags, and banners and bunches of flowers are parading the streets.

In no other city in the union, or for that matter in the world, is there such a great celebration every year of Sunday school scholars. Back in the fifties when Brooklyn was little more than a village all the Sunday school children were wont to parade annually in a vacant lot in what is now the business section of the town. The increase of the city since those days has made it necessary to have parades in different sections, so that looking from a great height upon Brooklyn to-day it would seem as though the four quarters of the city were thronged with white-robed armies in marching array. Business is generally suspended, flags are floating on all public buildings, and the schools, private and public, are closed.

COTTRELL GOES FREE.

The Evidence Against Him Was Not Sufficient.

Columbus, O., May 25.—The preliminary examination in the Cottrell-Gray assault case was called up late yesterday afternoon before Justice McDonald, and for want of evidence to sustain the charge the case was dismissed.

The testimony of Agnes Gray, the only witness put on the stand, was very flimsy and sensational in its character, and proved conclusively to the court that she was a common prostitute.

At the conclusion of her testimony the defense rested and the court gave decision as above.

TWO BITTER CONTESTS

Republicans Trying to Name Candidates

To Represent Their Party in Congress.

Eighty-two Ballots Taken at Steubenville With No Choice—The Eighth District Equally as Hot.

Steubenville, O., May 25.—At 10 o'clock last night the Sixteenth district republican congressional convention, which met here, adjourned after having taken 82 exciting ballots and made no nomination.

The convention was held in the City opera house, which was handsomely decorated, portraits of all the republican party leaders being hung over the stage.

The convention was called to order by Hon. C. L. Weems, of St. Clairsville. Rev. O. V. Stewart invoked divine blessing. Hon. Lorenzo Danford was selected as temporary chairman, and, in opening, spoke of the benefit to this valley which the republican system of protection has been, clear from Yellow Creek, on the north, to Sisterville, on the south.

After the appointment of the various committees the convention adjourned for dinner and did not assemble until 2:30 o'clock. Hon. Lorenzo Danford was made permanent chairman and W. R. Johnson, secretary.

The resolutions were read by Hon. Robert Sherrard, jr., and they indorsed the republican national platform of 1888, denounced the attempt of the democratic house to bring in free wool, indorsed Harrison in gushing terms and without qualification. Major McKinley and his tariff bill was also heartily indorsed.

Hon. Capel L. Weems, of St. Clairsville, presented the name of Col. C. L. Poorman. His mention of Blaine's name brought forth loud applause. Dr. Armstrong, of Monroe county, seconded the nomination.

Union C. Deford presented the name of Judge McCoy, of Carrollton.

Colonel John S. Pearce presented the name of Hon. D. A. Hollingsworth, being called on in the absence of Hon. John A. Bingham, who was so weak physically that he could not attend.

Hon. John M. Cook presented the name of Hon. Reese G. Richards, and his speech was so masterly that he was complimented by Carroll's 23 votes and nine from Monroe on one ballot.

Then began the contest of ballots that may last for some time yet. Complimentary voting was the order of the day. The vote started off: Belmont—Poorman 60, Hollingsworth 3. Carroll—McCoy 23. Harrison—Hollingsworth 26. Jefferson—Richards 43. Hollingsworth 4. Monroe—Poorman 13. Hollingsworth 1. Total, McCoy 23, Poorman 73, Hollingsworth 34, Richards 43. The second ballot stood the same. Trading and feeling was the order from the first. Monroe doing the most of it, voting solidly at times for Poorman, Hollingsworth, Richards, and McCoy, at others giving all four a share. This at times reduced the votes of all the leading candidates except Richards. Poorman at one time ran as high as 76 votes, and dropped in several ballots to 54. Hollingsworth ran up as high as 63, then down to 33. Carroll at times divided her vote among all four candidates, then would return to 23 for McCoy.

Harrison would give several votes to counties that had complimented them and then would ring in that "26 votes for Hollingsworth" that has been heard at six conventions, their own delegation being forced to smile at the unfailing regularity with which this vote was given out. Jefferson county, for the first time in her history, voted solidly for Richards, except the four delegates which Hollingsworth captured in the west end of the county.

Three of these voted several ballots for Richards, then returned to Hollingsworth. For all but two of the 82 ballots Chairman Cook announced 43 for Richards, four for Hollingsworth.

At the end of the 26 ballots the convention adjourned for supper and did not assemble until 8 o'clock.

Then 56 ballots were taken in two hours with several changes, which were complimentary and meant nothing. Several attempts were made to adjourn, but there were cries of "fight it out." But at 10 o'clock they saw that the deadlock was complete and concluded to see if a night's rest would solve the contest.

AT KENTON.

An Interesting Fight in the Eighth District.

Kenton, O., May 25.—The republican congressional convention of the Eighth district assembled yesterday morning at 10 o'clock with delegations from the various counties fully represented.

About 1,000 staunch republicans were present from abroad with bands and special trains.

J. L. Cammeron, of Union county, was made temporary chairman and afterward permanent.

The administrations of President Harrison and Major McKinley were approved. The platform of the state convention was adopted with great applause. After the various committees were appointed there were loud calls for Hon. S. M. Taylor, and the convention was entertained by a vigorous speech from the head of the state ticket.

Adjournment was then had until 2 p. m., when Judge Warnock was nominated by Champaign county, Gen. Jones by Delaware, J. W. Robinson by Union, Col. L. M. Strong by Hardin, Gen. Kennedy by Logan, backed by solid delegations, and T. J. McConlen and Judge Poe were each backed by a following in Hancock.

Balloting began with no change until 31 votes had been had, when an adjournment was taken until 7:30 p. m. Renewed vigor seemed to have been gained by the recess and balloting was again resumed in the evening at 9:30. There was practically no change.

DISASTROUS FIRE.

Blaze in a Clothing House Does Much Damage.

Louisville, Ky., May 25.—Fire last night starting on the third floor of the building on Sixth street, near Main, occupied by Bray & Landrum, manufacturers of jeans clothing, caused a loss of $100,000.

The stock was completely destroyed. It was valued at $80,000 and insured for $60,000. The building, valued at $40,000, was the property of the J. B. Wilder estate.

It was damaged about $20,000, fully insured. The cause of the fire is supposed to have been an explosion of gas.

THE POLK WILL.

Chancellor Allison Has Declared It No Good.

Nashville, Tenn., May 25.—Ex-President James K. Polk's will was declared null and void by Chancellor Allison this morning and the estate given to the heirs-at-law. Polk left the home, consisting of several acres in the heart of Nashville on which his tomb is located, to his wife, and after her death to that relative who should be pronounced "worthiest relative bearing the name of Polk." Mrs. Polk died last year and the will was attacked as an attempt to entail the property. Mr. Taskar Polk, of North Carolina, bringing the suit. The decision to-day overturned the will and gives the heirs-at-law the property. It is worth probably $300,000.

EMBEZZLEMENT CHARGED.

Lima, O., May 25.—C. A. Leasure, a local flour and feed merchant, was arrested on a warrant charging him with embezzlement. The Isaac Harter Milling company, of Fostoria, for whom Leasure was formerly an agent, brings the suit.

FISHERMEN MEET TO TALK

Twenty-first Annual Gathering in New York.

Much Information for Men Who Angle.

Interesting Paper on Fish and Fishing in Ohio Read Before the Body by John E. Gunckel of This City.

New York, May 25.—(Special)—The twenty-fifth annual meeting of the American Fisheries society was called to order in the Holland house to-day. Among the gentlemen present, who are prominent in fishing and game circles were:

Hon. Robert B. Roosevelt, Hon. L. D. Huntington, Judge Henry W. Bookstaver, Charles F. Imbrie, Roland Redmond, John E. Gunckel, Col. Alfred Wagstaff, Charles E. Whitehead, Robert B. Lawrence, Fred Mather, Wakeman Halberton.

The interesting feature of the meeting was a paper read by John E. Gunckel, of Toledo, as follows:

Fish and Fishing in Ohio.

For 200 miles within the boundary lines of Ohio the blue waters of Lake Erie dash against rocky cliffs, mingle with tributary rivers or peacefully roll over long stretches of white sandy beach. This great open expanse, in early days, abounded in food fishes. The choicest were only selected of the now 20 species eagerly sought after. The few inhabitants found the supply more than sufficient for their needs, and indeed it seemed practically inexhaustible.

But as the population increased and industries became diversified, men gradually came to take fish to meet the demand of those who lived at a distance from the water, making what had hitherto been an occasional occupation, a regular means of livelihood—an industry.

Here began the unequal struggle between the inhabitants of the land and water in which was foreseen the inevitable result of the virtual extinction of the weaker creatures. In addition to what then seemed to be wise legislation, for the protection of fish, the science of fish culture came to the relief and it was then seen that man was to be used as an instrument to prevent the extinction of the species of food fishes in our inland waters.

In the fall of 1875 the first governmental efforts were made to hatch white fish. The parent fish were first obtained, the eggs extracted and fertilized, and it is a fact that almost every egg was safely hatched and the young deposited in the waters of Lake Erie. From that date to the present time the state, through its efficient commission, has deposited in Lake Erie four hundred millions of young white fish.

Since the spring of 1880 upwards of two hundred millions of pickerel have been hatched by the commission, and deposited in Ohio waters suitable for them, and from the last official report, dated May 16th, 1892, out of 400 quarts of pickerel spawn 60 per cent. was hatched.

Not only do people living along the lake shore find almost daily supply of food fishes for consumption in a fresh state, but by proper methods of preparation and preservation the product of the lake is fitted for long continued keeping and transportation to distant markets where fishing is difficult, impracticable or impossible.

With wise legislation and increased assistance of the fish commissioners the supply of food fishes does not equal the demand, and the fishermen's cry, from shore to shore, is the scarcity of favorite fishes; and each year the perfected net appliances increases. Closer and closer the the spawning grounds limited; deeper and longer are the gill nets and smaller the meshes until white fish the size of herring are taken from the deepest waters.

Back in the seventies sturgeon were so plentiful and useless that hundreds were daily thrown out of the nets back into the water. To-day nearly every part of the fish is utilized and the net fisherman is fortunate who captures four or five in his daily catch.

Again the fish culturist is heard from and he introduces methods of artificial hatching and it is estimated that 80 per cent. of the young sturgeon released in the waters live to take care of themselves—so hardy and capable of self-defense, and self supporters are the fry. I have the pleasure of personally knowing many of Ohio's foremost fish culturists who have spent years in propogating fish, studying and becoming familiar with the habits and devising ways and means to check the rapid decrease and to replenish depleted waters. Many commercial fishermen appreciate and recognize their efforts and while the fishermen are gradually covering, with killing nets, nearly all the territory where fish visit, for scarcity of fish means more twine, they cheerfully suggested plans and ideas to aid those who are so deeply interested in preserving our food fishes.

The following notes of interest I have gleaned from wholesale fishermen along the various lake ports. Of white fish, ten out of sixteen fishermen believed that 12 per cent. of the fish deposited in the lake by the commission were captured, with gill nets, before they reached a pound in weight in the deep water off the Pennsylvania shore. Twenty per cent. lived to maturity, and this could be increased 15 per cent. more if the young fish were treated like we raise little pigs—deposited in pens in suitable waters around the islands until old enough to take care of themselves.

In 1857 on the south shore of the lake during almost every strong northeastern gale the spawn of white fish was cast upon the beach in such immense quantities it was often strewn to the depth of two or three inches several feet wide for miles along the shore.

The general complaint, although reluctantly admitted, is that the meshes of the rapidly increasing gill nets are too small, they are destroying white fish weighing less than a pound, while the leaders of the pound nets are increasing to such an alarming extent as to seriously interfere with navigation, let alone keeping back the fish enroute to their spawning grounds.

All fishermen agree that the natural spawning grounds of the lake are at the mouth of the Detroit river. White fish, pickerel, bass, saugers, sturgeon and other food fishes pay annual visits to this point; the pickerel depositing their eggs as they pass up the river, paying no attention to hatching or caring for their young. Sturgeon are caught while they roll around their spawning beds or guarding their young.

The bed of the river and following the channel far into the lake is literally alive with suckers of all sizes and kinds. There is no spot on the chain of lakes equal to this clear, rapid river for small-mouthed black bass and other game fish to spawn and thrive. The flavor of fish caught in this magnificent body of water is world known.

It is also an admitted fact, and well-known by the writer, that the channel in Sandusky bay, winding as it does through a broad expanse of shallow water, is the best protected body of water along the lake shore, and while other bays and tributary rivers formerly abounded with the beautiful white bass and are now almost extinct, this channel leading up the Sandusky river is alive with this clean-looking fish from June until late in the fall, and farther inland among the bends and narrow channels lined with blooming lilies can be found in great numbers the finest large mouthed black bass grounds in the world.

Referring to pickerel, bass and other food species, the majority of fishermen agree that all channels leading to and from the lake through the bays to the rivers proper should be kept clear of nets, particularly in the spawning seasons, for eventually the net fishermen must be actually benefitted by allowing a large number of fish to cast their spawn in waters above the roving egg destroying marauders, for as the country with its drainage toward the lake is being tiled to an extent beyond belief, the creeks and rivers rise so rapidly and so high that fish are found in great quantities in ditches miles inland from the lake.

While the general public believe that unless some decided and effective measures are adopted to enable a large number of fish to safely reach their spawning grounds there is great danger in extermination of our lake food fishes, and while many of our commercial fishermen oppose protective legislation mainly because they object to any laws which shall limit their ability to take all the fish possible from a given water area in a given time, the thoughtful fishermen express a willingness to co-operate with legislative enactments looking to a thorough preservation of fish.

My attention has been frequently called to the fact that there is no legislation on the statute books of Ohio which offer any protection to the game and food fish of Lake Erie during the spawning season. Any attempt at such legislation is met by the organized opposition of the men who wrongfully imagine that their private interests are thereby attacked, and who have been able thus far to prevent the passage of many measures that would have materially benefitted them in the end.

On the other hand, most men do not care to expend time and money in urging a species of legislation from which they are to reap only an indirect and remote advantage. Neither for the same reason do they incline to aid in securing a thorough and impartial enforcement of such laws as already exist.

Many believe in restriction as to the seasons and methods of taking fish, but they are unwilling to act as either prosecutors or witnesses when such laws are violated. In this connection I might add that in all legislative action taken, whether by national or state governmnets, care should be taken to properly define what constitutes the waters of the lakes and inland waters. One of the most prolific causes of misunderstanding as to the meaning of various laws now passed has been the claim made by some that the waters of the lake extend up the rivers as far as tide water: it will thus be seen that the efforts to protect the rivers are paralyzed by having their mouths filled with nets.

Another trouble is the lack of uniformity of the laws in adjoining states. Thus in Ohio some of our best streams are fully protected against destructive net fishing, while their mouths emptying into the lake in an adjoining state are completely blockaded with nets, the nets even extending from either shore across the channels.

Uniformity would give a clearer comprehension as to the meaning of the law in both states. Another serious difficulty in the enforcement of existing laws is that the officials to whom such enforcement is committed are left without fixed adequate compensation for their services. An Ohio fish warden receives no remuneration, and even his time and labor in securing an arrest and prosecution are wholly unremunerated unless he secures a conviction.

We need most of all to educate the people into a broader and fuller appreciation, not alone of the rights of others, but of their own interests. We shall succeed in this work when we make the general public comprehend that in protecting the rights of others in the fish of our open waters we are in reality preserving our own.

Relative to interior fish and fishing, the subject is one of such vast interest that it would require another paper much longer than this to do it justice. It is generally believed that the laws are better observed than along the lake shore; that game fish are increasing, and the people are in sympathy with the commission and appreciate their labors. With the Ohio state fish car, "The Buckeye," the commission has deposited some 12,000 black bass, weighing from a half to three pounds, in the rivers and creeks throughout the state.

I could hardly close without a word about our rod and line fishermen. There seems to be implanted in the nature of every Buckeye angler the love of outdoor sport. They recognize fishing as the keenest of enjoyments. While it is the common destiny of mankind to labor from the cradle to the grave, toil and hardship are brightened by and often endured for the prospect of angling, with its anticipated hopes, fears and pleasures. I can say from a personal experience that the desire to kill and destroy is more a potent motive with our rod fishermen than a necessity. It is a conceded fact that Ohio contains more truthful anglers than any state in the union, the city of Toledo leading.

I will relate an incident narrated recently to me by that venerable fisherman, Hon. Emery D. Potter, illustrating the pleasure of fishing with hook and line in Ohio under favorable circumstances.

"Among the many pleasant incidents of hook and line fishing," said the judge, "and one of the most successful afternoon outings I ever experienced was in the year 1863, with Dr. Theodatus Garlick, of Cleveland. The doctor was a great hunter and frequented the marshes at the head of Lake Erie. One afternoon when hunting was poor I persuaded him to accompany me in a boat to try his luck at fishing. He accepted and we anchored in one of the many cuts around Gard island and began casting for black bass. We fished thirty minutes and succeeded in landing 32 bass, the largest weighing four and the smallest two pounds. A fair afternoon's fishing. In reply to my question to the doctor the next day 'to go a fishing,' he looked very serious when he said, 'well, judge, having no use for the fish, I am honestly ashamed to fish for the fun of it.'"

WOODVILLE'S BOOM.

Everything Looks Bright for a Good Summer.

Woodville, O., May 25.—(Special)—The roads are improving and becoming passable again, and business is reviving accordingly in all branches, but the farm work is necessarily backward. Plowing has been out of the question.

The Woodville oil field is now being rapidly developed, and derricks are being erected in all directions. Twenty-three wells are now to be drilled in different directions from town, and leasing is going on at a rapid rate. Woodville has two companies of its own, and the Standard and Paragon companies are at work pushing the oil business, making everything lively, and money is moving freely.

The well on the Myers place is a gusher, running upwards of 800 barrels per day on a steady flow. It is the best well in Sandusky count, and it is right in the vicinity of Woodville.

Building is going on at a rapid rate, and bids are being made for town property.

Preparations are being made for Decoration day exercises, to join in with Genoa people.

Miss Bruns, a young lady 17 years of age, the daughter of Mr. Henry Bruns, sr., died last week; also Mrs. John Shroeder, who has been ill for many years. Both funerals were held at the Lutheran church, and the attendance was very large.

Oil men are here from all directions. Everything looks bright for the future of the village.

POLITICAL FICTION.

Upper Sandusky, O., May 25.—(Special)—For several days past a number of papers have suggested the name of Hon. M. W. Smalley, of this city, ex-representative from this county, as a candidate for the democratic nomination of secretary of state. A special from Lima, published in one of the republican papers, stated that Mr. Smalley had attended a conference at Lima, and that a slate was arranged, whereby he was to head the ticket this fall.

Mr. Smalley was seen by your correspondent to-day and pronounced the special one of the rankest fiction.

Beauty is no Inheritance.

Beauty often depends on plumpness, so does health. Cosmetics do not beautify, but often destroy a healthy complexion. A natural rosy and healthy color can not be had by the use of cosmetics, but only through the health of the body in general. Secure this result by the use of the genuine imported Carlsbad Sprudel Salt. Take it early in the morning before breakfast. It clears the complexion and produces healthy flesh and color. Obtain the genuine, which has signature of "Eisner & Mendelson Co., Agents, New York," on every bottle.

TERRIBLE ITCHING

Used Everything Five Months—In Three Weeks not a Scar or Pimple—Cured by Cuticura.

When my baby was three months old his cheeks and forehead began to break out with white pimples on red surface. In a few days itching commenced, which was terrible. After he would rub it, matter would ooze from the points. In a short time it spread over the top of his head, then scabs soon formed on head and face. We used everything we could hear of for nearly five months. It grew worse all the time. I saw your advertisement of the CUTICURA REMEDIES in the "Chicago Weekly." We purchased CUTICURA REMEDIES and commenced their use. In three weeks' time there was not a sore or pimple, not even a scar, on head or face. He is nineteen months old now, and has no signs of the disease. His scalp is healthy and he has a beautiful head of hair. (See portrait herewith.)

MRS. OSCAR JAMES, Woodston, Kan.

My infant, eighteen months old, was afflicted with skin eruptions on his hips. Bad sores came on other parts. All remedies failed until I procured CUTICURA. Cured a year and no return of disease.

A FLOOD-TIDE JOURNEY.

Experiences and Observations of a Toledoan.

Following "the Star of Empire"—Waters Up to the Coast Door—Graphic Picture of Scenes Along the Mississippi.

Every day of the past week, with its mist, rain and gloom, was a mere atom in the hurrying tide of life, as I have seen it since leaving Toledo Sunday evening, May 15. Since then I have drifted with many currents in search of sights and sounds and have not been disappointed. I have heard somewhere in my life the time to take hold of things was at its flood—but hereafter I prefer its ebb so far as water is concerned. As I have said, our party left Toledo May 15 via the Wabash for St. Louis. Monday morning's sun flashed like a diamond out of the east, and every hour of its advance grew brighter and more beautiful to us, as we had not seen the king of day for almost a week. Our ride was uneventful until we reached Mitchell. There we had to abandon the road that had brought us so far on our journey without accident for the Chicago & Alton, the Wabash being three and one-half feet under water—the Mississippi river growing beyond its margin. From Mitchell to Venice the ride was delightful, our train running through three and four inches of water, the whirr of the water under the wheels, and the spray from its splashing, as the early morning sunlight shone upon it, looked like countless orbs of light to clear the track before us. It was a beautiful picture and not one to be very soon forgotten. But when we reached deep water—between Venice and East St. Louis—with the water running almost even with the coach steps and the men with rubber boots on to their waist, with spikes in their hands—to keep logs from drifting under the car wheels—then the situation grew exciting, and to see whole families taken from their homes on rude rafts—and see miniature Niagaras everywhere—caused us to say within our hearts,

"Protect us from its might Great God our king."

Our train halted a few minutes by a box car which sheltered refugees, and on a pile of sand sacks lay a rosy-cheeked baby asleep, with the water almost up to the door, but the mother was hovering there and I thought—

There's not a blossom of beautiful May,
Nor the rosy bloom of apple-tree flowers
Fair as the face of this baby of ours.

Coming on a little farther we saw a house deserted by all but the chickens and a yellow dog; they were safe on the roof, and a disconsolate turkey stood on one foot waiting for a chance in the roosting tree, which was a little higher, and where his companions had preceded him.

But the greatest danger and greatest suffering is reported among those farmers who live some distance back of the ordinary limits of the river, as the people living further in the interior are literally imprisoned in their water-surrounded home, and so we hear of desolation and destruction from all directions—and to many the thought of a warm breakfast and a couch of sweet repose lifts in happy mirage before their disconsolate and weary souls. LIFE IN LIBERIA.

Philip T. Gross, a colored dentist, who went from Maryland to seek his fortune in Liberia, writes back to the colored manservant of Mayor Latrobe, of Baltimore, as follows: "This part of Africa is about five degrees north of the equator. It is a beautiful country with many mountains, pretty rivers and valuable resources, but undeveloped. The soil is adapted to the growth of most vegetables. Much remains to be done by man. This requires brains and money by the millions of dollars. A few of our race who are engaged in commerce succeed, and a few who are engaged in raising coffee make a pretty fair living. There are no industries by which the laboring classes can be employed, consequently there is considerable suffering among the masses, especially in the time of sickness. As to the government, I can say nothing encouraging of the way it is managed. There is no money of the government's make, that is, coin. Everything in the way of business is barter. There is no cash system, consequently little cash is used by the masses. United States money, English, German and Dutch coin are used, but the English has the lead. The laboring man has to take nearly two-thirds of his pay in merchandise at a very high price. The schools in the lower grades are as good as no schools at all. The most that is done for the education of the youth of Liberia is done by American benevolence. I have had so much trouble and humbug with these people for the last ten years that I am completely put out with them."—Chattanooga Times.

NEBRASKA'S DAY.

Silver Anniversary of Her Admission Into Statehood.

Lincoln, Neb., May 25.—The celebration in honor of the silver anniversary of the admission of Nebraska to the Union as one of its states opened here this evening, and the city is crowded with visitors from all over the state, including many old pioneers. The exercises to-night will include mass meetings at Funk's opera house and at the Lansing theater, at which patriotic addresses will be delivered.

While these gatherings are in progress the native sons and daughters of Nebraska will assemble in Representatives' hall with Prof. W. F. Taylor presiding, and an oration will be delivered by George M. Hitchcock, of Omaha, after which a state organization of sons and daughters of Nebraska will be brought into existence. Concurrent with the other gatherings there will be a reunion in the senate chamber of survivors of the territorial legislature of 1867, and of the first state officers. Ex-Gov. John M. Thayer, Geo. M. Crawofrd and T. P. Kennard will deliver addresses. To-morrow will be the great day of the celebration.

BIG DAY IN THE SOUTH

Unveiling the Confederate Monument

Which Now Stands in Helena, Arkansas.

Impressive Ceremonies and an Address by Col. John R. Fellows, of New York.

Helena, Ark., May 25.—The streets of this city are filled to-day with thousands of strangers who have come by steamboat and train to participate in the exercises attending the unveiling of the confederate monument.

All the buildings on the main streets are completely hidden under decorations, consisting of flags, bunting and the national colors. "Old Glory," in sizes small and great, meets the view at every turn, and it folds to catch the whirlwinds of enthusiasm. Confederate flags appear occasionally, but not conspicuously. Over one of the main streets are stretched the union and confederate flags and connecting them is a canvas on which is written the legend: "United we stand, divided we fall."

The reunion is held under the auspices of the ex-Confederate Veterans' association, of Phillips county, Ark.

Last night at the opera house, Senator Berry, on behalf of the Ladies' Memorial association, presented the monument to the Sons of Veterans. The speech of acceptance was delivered by Judge R. W. Nicholls, as president of the Sons of Veterans' organization. Speeches were also delivered by Col. James Blackburn and P. D. McCullough.

The monument was unveiled and an oration delivered by Col. John R. Fellows, of New York, at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

The grounds selected for the confederate cemetery at Helena and for the site of the monument, is a plateau of wooded hillside, 300 feet above the level of the Mississippi river. This plat of ground was donated by citizens of this place. The monument from base to apex is 37 feet high, with three sections of base, the lowest base being nine feet square. The four sides are ornamented with a plinth with molded gable, the front gable having 13 stars, below which, in raised lettering, is "Confederate Memorial."

Eight cannons on die occupy corners and centers between. On the east and west side of the shaft are appropriate inscriptions. The four sides of the cap above the die are ornamented with pyramids of cannon balls, a spray of laurel beneath each pyramid and above the cap a block relieved with pediment, the center showing C. S. A. in monogram. At the highest point of the shaft appears an elaborate corinthian cap upon which stands the crowning piece of the monument. Upon the shaft stands the confederate soldier in pure Italian marble.

Among the illustrious dead the shaft honors are Maj. Gen. Patrick R. Cleburn, the "Stonewall of the West;" Maj. Gen. Thomas C. Hindman and Col. W. E. Moore, chief commissary of the army of Tennessee.

Shortly after 1 o'clock the different organizations assembled in front of Fitzpatrick hall, and at the firing of the signal gun marched in the following order to Confederate hill: Band, grand marshal, mounted police, visiting soldiery, citizen soldiery, artillery, band, officers memorial association, officers Memphis Ladies' Memorial association, orator of the day, governors and distinguished visitors, confederacy of 14 states, survivors of the battle of Helena, organized veterans, organized sons of veterans, citizens in carriages and on foot.

CORONER'S INQUEST

On the Remains of John Fein—Funeral To-Day.

The funeral of John Fein, more familiary known as "Bismarck," who was killed by the electric car, took place from his residence on St. Clair street this forenoon, and was largely attended.

Yesterday Coroner Beckwith began the inquest. Dr. Root testified to the injuries and Miss Ida Kentworthy testified to the facts of the accident. The deceased was facing towards Adams street when the car struck him.

Judge Cummings appeared for the family of the deceased and Curtis Johnston for the street car men's association.

It was shown that while Fein was a drinking man, he was not drunk at the time of the accident. The inquest was resumed this afternoon.

THE C., H. V. & T. SUIT.

It is Rumored that Judge Burke Has Agreed to Compromise.

It is reported that the suit of Judge Stevenson Burke against the Columbus, Hocking Valley & Toledo Railroad company to recover $200,000 damages alleged to have been sustained by enjoining him from disposing of certain stocks and bonds while the famous $8,000,000 suit by John W. Shaw was pending has been compromised.

When asked about the matter President Waite said the suit was pending in the supreme court ,where it had been carried by the company, and that he knew nothing of a compromise.

It will be remembered that Judge Burke won his suit in both the common pleas and circuit courts. Provision was made for the payment of the judgment in the event of it being affirmed by the supreme court.

It will be several years at least before the case is heard in the supreme court, as it will have to await its turn, and there are hundreds ahead of it.

A FINE ENTERTAINMENT

Given for the Benefit of the Auburndale Y. M. C. A. Athletic Club.

An entertainment which gave a great deal of pleasure, as well as being a complete success, was given at Baumgardner's hall last evening for the benefit of the Auburndale Y. M. C. A. Athletic club.

The program consisted of a piano solo by Miss Amelia Brukseiker, which was excellent and received an encore. Miss Gertrude Teague gave several readings, which were appreciated. The cornet duet by Messrs. Van Wormer and Laskey was very good and Mr. Frank Garn in his usual charming way sang a tenor solo, which called forth a hearty encore, but Mr. Garn did not respond.

The piano and mandolin duet by Miss Brukseiker and Mr. Warren was hugely enjoyable. Mr. O. Jones did some fine club swinging and was followed by a recitation by George Mills.

Mr. Harry Tridke sang "The Two Grenadiers." He possesses a fine voice and received an encore. Frank Galloway gave one of his delightful banjo solos. The exercises were closed by a cornet duet by Messrs. Van Wormer and Laskey.

REAL ESTATE DEALS.

Business Very Active in All Parts of the City.

Real estate is moving at a lively rate these days.

To-day Jacob Folger purchased the old paper mill property in West Toledo, of G. Adam Meissner, of Washington township, for which he paid $4,250.

The property is a part of the old Phillips farm, and on account of its location, being on one railroad and very near another, is particularly valuable for a manufacturing site.

Mr. Folger will improve the property in this manner for any corporation wishing to establish a plant. Otherwise he will build an immense slaughter house.

Ira Richardson & Son yesterday sold the old Judge Harrington residence on Eighteenth, between Jefferson and Madison streets, to Frederick Smalley, of the Lion dry goods store, for $3,125. This property will be greatly improved and occupied by Mr. Smalley as a dwelling place.

This firm also sold lot 44, Walton Bros.' addition, on Melrose street, to Caroline Westcott for $3,000, and lot 59, to Julia H. Smith for $3,100. Both of these lots have new modern residences on them.

NEW CENTURY CLUB.

Last Meeting of the Season an Exceedingly Bright and Pleasant One.

Mrs. F. D. Jermain entertained a fairly represented meeting of the New Century club last evening, the vice-president, Mr. J. B. Bartelle, in the chair, Miss Mary E. Law, secretary.

Mrs. E. C. Tompkins, of the Bee staff, was unanimously elected to membership of the organization.

A very interesting symposium was the program of the evening upon the book, "Who Lies"? recently published by the Arena Co., Boston. The opening paper by Miss E. S. Bouton, giving a review of the work, was followed by papers and addresses, devoted to special views advanced in the volume under consideration. These papers were by Mrs. Charles Cravens, Captain C. T. Bateman, Mrs. Elizabeth R. Collins, Miss Mary E. Law, Mrs. E. S. Fray, Mrs. F. D. Jermain, Mrs. Rosa L. Segur. Mr. J. B. Battelle, in an address succeeding them, spoke of the various views advanced by the writers, and was followed in a discussion in which Mrs Edward Bissell, Mr. Frank Maguire, Mrs. M. E. Moulton and Mrs. E. J. C. Jennings took the lead.

Refreshments followed by a season of social enjoyment gave a delightful finale to the evening. The subject of the book, however, being of such interest that an informal talk was kept up upon it, and the various views the writers of the evening had advanced, until the hour of parting.

The club adjourned to the first Friday of October next, when it will meet with Mrs. Rosa L. Segur, 916 Broadway, Miss E. S. Bouton being the essayist of the occasion.

Following is the program for to-night:

ATTEMPTED BLACKMAIL.

Harry Tiernan Tries to Mulct Woolson Spice Co.

The Matter in the Hands of Chief of Police of Columbus—Sympathy for His Family.

It developed yesterday that Harry Tiernan, now in jail at Columbus, has recently attempted to levy blackmail on the Woolson Spice company.

It was a brazen and bare-faced attempt to blackmail.

Several weeks ago Mr. Woolson received a communication from Tiernan, who signed himself business manager of the Columbus World. He wanted a contract for advertising.

No answer was given and again came another communication with an unsigned contract attached. In this communication Mr. Woolson was given to understand that certain Columbus parties were after the company on account of certain spurious ingredients used in the roasting of coffee.

Mr. Woolson was highly indignant and was inclined to have Tiernan arrested on a charge of blackmail, but out of regard to the young man's parents, who are honest and upright people, he desisted.

Friday last another letter from Tiernan was received in which great astonishment was expressed that no answer had been sent to his previous communications. In this he demanded that the enclosed advertising contract be signed forthwith and forwarded instanter.

This was too much and Mr. Woolson at once forwarded the blackmailing epistle to Chief of Police Murphy, of Columbus, with instructions to have the matter investigated.

This was before Mr. Woolson learned of Tiernan's arrest on the other charge.

Tiernan's father, an old and respected citizen of the Fifth ward, called on Mr. Woolson this morning in reference to the matter, and he is utterly prostrated by the disgrace.

Mr. Woolson speaks in the highest terms of the young man's parents, and evinces sincere sympathy for them.

HOLIDAY IN LONDON.

The City Turns Out to Honor the Aged Queen.

London, May 25.—The birthday of Queen Victoria was celebrated in London to-day. Last year the celebration was held on Saturday, May 30, and the year before on May 21. There was a very large gathering at the Horse Guards' parade, which included many provincial and foreign visitors. The American legation and consulate were closed and the stars and stripes flew to the breeze.

The American flag was conspicuous in many parts of London, flying over numerous shops and hotels.

TALKING ON GRAIN RATES

Strange as the Case May Seem,

It Is True There's Too Much Water for Navigators.

Farmers Cannot Get Their Product to the Elevators—General Marine Mention of Interest.

Chicago, May 25.—(Special Marine Service)—Vessel owners around the lakes have been watching very anxiously for grain to begin to move out of Chicago more freely. Owing to the great number of boats crowding in upon the ore trade, rates in that traffic begin to show a decided downward tendency, and the outlook for a spring of profitable business is becoming clouded, all because the forward movement of grain from Chicago has been so light.

George Boyden, of Boyden & Co., the heaviest grain shippers on the board of trade, said yesterday that he could see no hope of an immediate improvement in the movement of grain from Chicago. If the weather becomes good, he had advices that a large amount of corn would be marketed at once, but at present country roads are so bad that it is impossible to get the grain to the elevators. One firm had corn in cribs at a country town, but the village streets were bottomless, and wagons could not haul the corn to the elevators.

"There is not much demand just now for our wheat," Mr. Boyden said. "The east has been taking Duluth wheat in preference to ours, as, figuring up charges, etc., it was about a cent less than ours. To-day the market seems more favorable, and the change of a cent a bushel between cash wheat and July will make it possible to sell considerable wheat now in Chicago elevators. The Chicago elevators, which have been holding their wheat for a premium, peddled out a good deal of it to-day, and it seems likely that the market will get in shape now since the stocks at Duluth have been so greatly decreased that Chicago wheat can be sold for shipment.

Queer State of Affairs.

The steamer Rochester, coming up from Buffalo, will pass steamer City of Rome, bound to Buffalo, both with identically the same kind of corn on board. Norton & Worthington are bringing the corn in the Nebraska back from Buffalo on account of the corner.

Notwithstanding the rain, nearly 3,000 people witnessed the launch of the steel steamer Caddillac in the yards of the Chicago Shipbuilding company in South Chicago yesterday afternoon.

On the Rocks.

Sault Ste. Marie, May 25.—The Canadian steambarge Clinton, grain laden, Port Arthur to Kingston, struck the rocks near Topsail island, this morning.

She was beached to save her from sinking. There are now four feet of water in her hold, and her cargo will prove a heavy loss.

Cleveland.

Cleveland, May 25.—Weakness in down freights did not result in general slump in market. Several Escanaba cargoes are offered at 70 cents. Ashland shippers are trying to get boats at $1.15, and 95 cents is all that is offered from Marquette, but there is no tonnage to be had at these figures.

Coal is still plentiful, and rates that have prevailed for ten days past are strong.

Duluth.

Duluth, May 25.—Wheat charters dull at 3 1-4c to Buffalo. Most of the boats are going for ore.

Buffalo.

Buffalo, May 25.—There is sharp demand for boats to load coal to-day, but none are obtainable. Only charter, Northern King, Ashtabula to Duluth.

Markets out of Line.

Chicago, May 25.—The only charter to-day was Flying Cloud, corn, to Port Huron, 1 1-2c. Rates to Buffalo are no object. Markets are all out of line.

A HUMAN FIEND

Assaults Mrs. Strehlein of Linden Street,

Chokes, Stabs and Kicks Her Until Insensible,

And Then Escapes—A Most Brutal Assault Upon a Woman Who Did Him a Kindness.

At about 10 o'clock this forenoon a shabbily-dressed man with a slouch hat drawn over his eyes entered the house of Mrs. Strehlein, 125 Linden street, near the nut and bolt works, and meekly asked for something to eat, saying that he was most famished.

Mrs. Strehlein believed his story and prepared a meal and sat it before him on the table. He eyed her closely while she was preparing the food and when it was ready he refused to eat.

He then attacked the woman who had shown him kindness, and attempted a criminal assault. Mrs. Strehlein was alone in the house and with what strength she had she fought the fiend off and cried for assistance.

The brute then grabbed her by the throat and attempted to stifle her cries. Finding that he could not quiet her he drew a knife and stabbed her time and time again, tearing her clothing in shreds from her body and cutting her breast in several places, inflicting flesh wounds three inches long.

He then threw her down and kicked her repeatedly in the stomach.

The poor woman fell insensible on the floor, horribly bruised and bleeding.

The man then fled. The brutal assailant is about 25 years of age, medium height, has long red hair, a beard of about four days' growth, no mustache, wears a faded gray suit, and speaks rapidly with an Irish accent.

Up to the time of going to press the police have been unable to capture him. Every effort is being made for his arrest.

It is not thought that Mrs. Strehlein is seriously injured.

Meet me at Memorial hall to-night.

COLDLY RECEIVED.

Rome, May 25.—Signor Giolitti, the new premier, was received with remarkable coldness by the chamber of deputies to-day when he presented himself to make a statement as to his plan for rescuing the kingdom from its financial troubles. His statement was regarded as weak and unsatisfactory in view of the pressing character of the situation.

S.S.S. CURES MALARIAL POISON

Nature should be assisted to throw off impurities of the blood. Nothing does it so well, so promptly, or so safely as Swift's Specific.

LIFE HAD NO CHARMS.

For three years I was troubled with malarial poison, which caused my appetite to fail, and I was greatly reduced in flesh, and life lost all its charms. I tried mercurial and potash remedies, but to no effect. I could get no relief. I then decided to try S.S.S. A few bottles of this wonderful medicine made a complete and permanent cure, and I now enjoy better health than ever.

The Dextrous Organ Grinder.

One of the amusing and amazing things in the realms of newspaperdom is the manner in which opposing political journals will review the same report or account, and draw therefrom opposite conclusions. Commissioner Carroll D. Wright's report on labor and wages in Europe and America makes it plain to some minds that the tariff law in no way augments the pay of the employe. High tax advocates take the same report and ingeniously extract from it proof for their theory. They take the basis of wages and multiply it by what it would amount to if workmen had been employed in the industries compared, as many days in this country as in England! That "the factories were closed because of over-production", was passed over as something not germane to the question at all. Some democrats, and some republicans, are claiming the glory of the free registry bill and some democrats and more republicans are denouncing it.

This effort of the organs to make grist of everything that comes to their mill, is again illustrated in reviews of a paper by Commissioner Wright in the May number of the Forum. Speaking of women in factories he pays high tribute to their honesty and says: "It requires the strongest character to enable a girl to be good, when she is struggling to live on the unstable income there received." It would seem there was no peg here for a high-tax advocate to hang an argument upon.

Into Mr. Wright's calculations nothing political enters, the high character of women under the most trying of circumstances being the objective point of his argument.. Yet an exchange is able to base upon this article a tribute to high-protective taxation. It says:

There are strong moral as well as material objections to the frantic endeavors of the Crisps and Millses and Springers and Simpsons to deprive northern manufacturers of the protection which they now enjoy.

One doesn't understand why "northern" factories are mentioned, and one doesn't understand how such utterances can follow the reading of the article at all, inasmuch as the women of England, Scotland, Germany and France as well as of America are considered and no remote reference is made to the wage question. This matters not to the man who is hunting "backing" for his suspicioned theories, and illustrates the versatile persuasiveness of the average organ editor, a versatility that virtually defeats his purpose.

And What of Blaine?

The party decides—that is a faction of it—that Blaine must accept the nomination if he dies for it. Blaine is the most popular man of his party to-day, and why? Because he denounced the McKinley trade restriction bill in round terms and set himself to work to neutralize its effects upon his party and incidentally in some degree, possibly, on the country. It was a delicate, heroic task, and all things considered, he did nobly, meeting the opposition, outspoken and under cover, that he has encountered. If the law has aided the farmer to the sale of "a bushel of grain or a barrel of pork" in outside markets—if it has, Mr. Blaine may claim the whole credit for it.

The same denunciation that he uttered had no influence on republicans, coming from democratic sources. As an edict from a leading partyman, it struck the popular chord. This, then, is the secret of Blaine's ascendency. But, if he shall consent to be sacrificed in obedience to the clamor of his friends and admirers, what of him? To-day his fame is at its brightest and best. At the close of the campaign of 1884, his undeniable record, as plainly shown, placed him under a heavy cloud. He was put down by his own party associates as brilliant but unreliable and unsafe. All this is momentarily forgotten. But with Blaine a candidate, the Mulligan letters and the long train of past disgraces will again be revived. The men who lead his faction today are a disreputable crowd. With the chances of defeat many, where will the Secretary find himself in the end? In the midst of a wreck of his present and possible greatness if he shall decide to make the sacrifice. For monstrous sacrifice it will be, elected or defeated. Mr. Blaine has not in his constitution and character the stuff that makes good presidents. At the best he would be a failure and a disappointment. The cruel assumption is that his name and personality can lead the party to victory, if anything can, and with this assured, his life or death, his fame gone out in darkness, matters little to his ambitious and unprincipled associates.

Not so much tin rattle in the tax organs lately. The supply that was rushed in here ahead of the new tariff law is becoming exhausted and imports are increasing with every month:

The report for the month ending January 31 showed an importation for the month of 30,612,209 pounds of tin plates, terne plates and tagger's tin. For the month of February, 42,338,245 pounds. And now the report for March comes to hand showing an importation for that month of 67,498,960 pounds.

As the organs which instructed their readers concerning the brief lull in imports made no mention of the true cause—overstock ahead of the law—they must now concede that the booming tin industry in this country is on the decline. But, they will tell you, so long as prices are not advanced, no matter. But prices are advanced. The Bee has in its possession a manuscript from a manufacturer of tin goods in which he says: "the added duty is borne by the manufacturer, or the dealer, if it does not come upon the consumer; the fact that prices have been increased cannot be denied." Tin crowns and badges are at a discount just now.

The quite new doctrine that, because legislators are cowards and dare not remove obnoxious laws from the statute book when public sentiment rises up against their enforcement they should be practically annulled while yet unrepealed, is a somewhat peculiar one. It is one of the idiosyncracies of human nature. It is not good policy to humor and bow to such peculiarities. Every twice in a while some crank makes them the vehicle of a tormenting prosecution. The law and order league of Pittsburg is making life miserable for Sunday newspapers under a law of 1794, the thorough enforcement of which would prohibit the selling of milk on Sunday. Sensible people say, give us a clean docket; give over piling law upon law, remove the obsolete ones and enforce the rest to the letter.

There seems to be that close connection between the Chicago Inter Ocean and the White House which allows the editor to assume the role of Sir Oracle. In double leads on Tuesday he announced that President Harrison will not get out of the way for Blaine, and that there is not, nor will there be, an understanding between the Secretary and the President on this question. Further, this Oracle proclaims, Mr. Harrison will be renominated. We presume this news from Washington and Minneapolis via Chicago is authentic and further discussion is wholly unnecessary. Gen. Clarkson, Tom Platt, Billy Mahone and the other obstreperous boys may as well go home now and mind their business.

The reported decision of Secretary Blaine, that he will not accept the nomination unless Mr. Harrison shall fail, on the 1rst ballot, is loaded with dynamite for the Harrison contingency.

Why should the high-tax organs be exulting over Lord Salisbury's protection speech? England buys three times as much of us as we do of her, and if she concludes to put duty on our breadstuffs see what a tax we "foreigners" will have to pay—according to republican doctrine.

Blaine and McKinley is the combination. Well, why not? The two jointly made the present tariff monstrosity and they ought to exhibit the freak before the people this summer.

McKinley with a Blaine attachment, is written across the doomed high-tax law. Blaine with a McKinley attachment is the forlorn hope to save the party from wreck consequent upon it.

The general conference has decided—the young people within the fold of the church must not dance—that is, the young people may go on breaking the law, but the law must stand on the books of discipline as an earnest of the deep horror the church fathers have of the world's wicked mirthfulness. The bible says there is a time to dance, but the time is not yet made apparent to some zealous persons in authority.

Minister to Spain, E. Burd Grubb, has gotten the bars let down in that country for the American hog; the Royal Order of Maria Luisa for Noble Ladies has been conferred upon Mrs. Burd Grubb, and now the Grubb family have sailed for home to help on the Harrison campaign. This about completes the round—"they are all, all here," and ready for business. Mr. Harrison doesn't want the nomination through his officeholders, you know.

The Chicago Inter Ocean alludes in an editorial on the candidate situation, to "Gen." Clarkson, and proceeds to shatter that gentleman's historic studies on second-termers in the presidential chair, to smithereens.

Secretary Blaine is a grandfather again. He gets in ahead of the grandson in the White House, on every count.

THE IRISH BILL.

London, May 25.—The Irish local government bill passed a second reading in the house of commons yesterday by a vote of 338 to 247.

CURRENT COMMENT.

If it be true that Salisbury is converted to protection, he should be invited to come over and stump the country with Pat Egan, Pat Ford, John Jarrett, and the other converts.—Washington Post.

During the week of the republican national convention the federal official work will be entirely done by clerks, while the heads of departments will be in Minneapolis conducting Mr. Harrison's convention. —Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The New York legislature has at last unshackled a married woman's right to make contracts. It was about time for that state to be only just. In this matter it was 1,000 years behind the times.—Omaha Bee.

Appearances indicate a liberal victory, but it must be confessed that the fierce factional animosities that have divided and weakened the Irish nationalists have exerted a most unfortunate effect upon the minds of English and Scotch electors.—New York Press.

During the year 1890 one in every 16 of Chicago's population was charged with crime That is to say, there were 62,230 arrests in that year, and the population is figured at 1,000,000. Considerable over one-half of those run in by the police were charged with disorderly conduct. The world's fair city showing is not an alluring one.—St. Louis Star Sayings.

The mountain has gone to Mohammed and Blaine admits with towering condescension that the republican party can have him if it is impossible to do without him. The gentleman from Maine shifts so often that many of his own party are very tired keeping track of him. He is an uncertain statesman and his whims draw heavily upon his popularity.—Detroit Free Press.

The president takes a philosophic view of the opposition to his renomination, and shows his skill at diagnosing the trouble in the remark that there never are enough places to go around and somebody must be disappointed. The difficulty seems to lie in the disproportion 'twixt the number of cabinet portfolios and the number of senators who regard senatorial courtesy as a vital principle.—Philadelphia Record.

It has lately been divulged that invitations to the Patriarchs' balls in New York have been purchased at as high a figure as $10,000. The man who will pay $10,000 for the sake of getting into society in which he does not belong gets off as cheaply as he deserves. But a society that will permit its invitations to be bought for money ought to be considered too cheap for any self-respected man to enter.—Boston Globe.

Mr. Harrison takes massage treatment. Every evening before retiring he is kneaded, pounded, slapped, pinched and rubbed for fully fifteen minutes. He is evidently trying to get his circulation in better shape, so that when he greets his friends hereafter his hand will not feel like a fish's tail. Unless Mr. Harrison can improve on that handshake of his he might as well give up further presidential aspirations.—Chicago Herald.

The discovery of the five-year-old marriage of the son of the leader of New York's four hundred brings to light the fact that the young man in question belongs to the leisure class; that is, he has had no occupation by which he could or did earn his living, and has consequently been dependent on his father, who is himself a man of limited means. This is what it is to be a member of the leisure class, to live on somebody else in default of individual means of livelihood, for the leisure class cannot work lest they forfeit their title.—San Francisco Chronicle.

A COMBINE IN BRICK

Toledo in a Trust of Its Own.

Facts Brought Out in a Law Suit.

John Gritcha Sues All the Owners for Damages Sustained in Hall's Yard.

A suit was filed in common pleas court to-day, which will, no doubt, create quite a surprise in local business circles.

The petition alleges that the brick manufacturers of Toledo have organized a gigantic trust under the name of the Toledo Brick association.

John Gritcha, by his attorney, James E. Pilliod, sues the alleged combination to recover damages for personal injuries sustained while in the employ of one of the members of this association.

It is claimed that Gritcha was employed at the brick yard of E. B. Hall, and he alleges in his petition, that he was compelled by his superiors, on September 4, 1891, to work in an extra hazardous position, and by the carelessness of his superiors, he was buried under a bank of clay, and crippled for life, for which he demands $25,000 damages.

The plaintiff sets up that E. B. Hall is a member of this combination, and is seeking to attach the liability of a member of this alleged pool, to all parties interested, and hold them equally responsible. The following Toledo brick-makers are made defendants as being members of the gigantic partnership: E. B. Hall, J. R. Boice, John Allen, H. C. Ellis, M. W. Brooker, Alexander Arnold, John B. Fox, Daniel Howell, E. E. Macomber, Srear & Jacobs, Buckeye Brick company.

The following is the language of the petition relative to the alleged combination:

"The defendants are the owners and managers of all or a majority of the brick yards in and about the city of Toledo, Lucas county, Ohio, and engaged in the manufacture of brick.

As such owners and managers and manufacturers and for the purpose of controling the output or supply of brick in the market, the abolition of competition in the manufacture of brick, and in order to a greater profit, to be divided among said defendants, they, the said defendants, have formed a combination, or pool, establishing between themselves a community of interest in all the business transacted and profits made out of the said brick yards, owned and operated by them, under one common and general management."

BOUGHT A GOLD BRICK.

The Same Old Indian Racket worked in Indiana.

South Bend, Ind., May 25.—George Swygart, a wealthy man and a former miner, was worked by the gold brick racket here yesterday. A fine appearing man introduced himself as a nephew from Arizona. He told Swygart he had found an Indian in Chicago with a gold brick weighing 70 pounds, and that it could be bought for $7,000.

Swygart secured the money and in company with his alleged nephew and a gold assayer, alleged to come from Philadelphia, went a mile from town into Coquillard woods and met the Indian. Swygart thought the brick genuine and paid over the cash. The swindlers have skipped.

TIERNAN BOUND OVER.

His Mother Tries to Secure Bail.

Levering Making a Strong Effort to Get Out of the Hands of the Law.

Columbus, O., May 25.—The police court was crowded yesterday, the occasion being the trial of F. W. Levering and H. W. Tiernan, proprietors of the Sunday World, on the charge of blackmailing Arthur Duffy, proprietor of a pool room on West State street.

Tiernan was without an attorney. When Tiernan was arraigned he stated that he hardly knew what action to take, as he had been unable to secure counsel. He thought he had best waive examination and let the case go to the grand jury. Judge Martin took him at his word, and promptly bound him over in the sum of $800. Tiernan was unable to secure bail and was marched down stairs to his cell.

Levering's case was next called. Mr. David C. Beggs and Mr. Jos. H. Dunn were each placed on the stand by the prosecution and testified that they had never made either Tiernan or Levering any proposotion to pay them $2,500 or any other sum of money to wage war against the gamblers in behalf of the Law and Order league.

Arthur Duffy took the witness stand and testified that Levering and Joe Given called at his place on West State street Tuesday night, and that Levering demanded $1,000 for the Sunday World's protection of the gamblers. He related the details of Tiernan's part in the affair, and the carrying out of the plan by which he was so successfully captured.

Mrs. Tiernan, of Toledo, mother of H. W. Tiernan, the Sunday World blackmailer, arrived in the city from Toledo to secure the release of her son. She came prepared to furnish the $800 bail, and will appear before Police Judge Martin with an application for her son's release. Mrs. Tiernan is siad to be quite wealthy. She brought with her $800 in cash, which she intends to offer as bail. In view of a recent decision of the courts, in which it was held that cash can not be accepted as surety for a bond, Mrs. Tiernan may have some difficulty in her efforts to rescue her son from prison. She called at the central station and the meeting of mother and son was very pathetic.

A NEW YORK POLICEMAN.

His Crimes Came Out and He Will Be Prosecuted.

New York, May 25.—Roundsman Matthew F. Daly, of the New York police force brought Mrs. Annie Hannan before a police justice yesterday and charged her with intoxication.

Mrs. Hannan told a story which completely turned the tables on the roundsman. She said that the officer had induced her daughter Mamie, a girl of 16 years, to go to a saloon with him and that while there he criminally assaulted her, despite the latter's vigorous resistance and cries for help.

She added that she went to Daly to demand that the wrong he had done her child be righted, whereupon he arrested her for intoxication and disorderly conduct.

The girl, who was present in court, confirmed her mother's story and Mrs. Hannan was immediately discharged. A formal charge of criminal assault has been drawn up against Daly.

BROPHY SUES ASHLEY.

The Pugilists Again Go to Law.

The Former Gentleman Wants Ten Thousand Dollars Damage for Being Battered.

Attorney Stephen W. Brophy began civil proceedings in Common Pleas court to-day against Charles S. Ashley to recover $10,000 damages for alleged malicious assault.

The suit grows out of the difficulty which occurred in the Produce Exchange building a few days ago, the details of which were aired in police court.

SANDUSKY AMATEURS.

Play for Their Library Fund and Are Assisted by Toledo Talent.

Sandusky, O., May 25.—(Special.)—A very enjoyable dramatic entertainment was given at the Opera house here last evening for the benefit of the public library fund and the affair was a decided success, both from an artistic and financial point of view.

This was one of the society events of the season and the large and appreciative audience present was composed of Sandusky's best society people.

The play was Blackstone's three-act comedy "Married Life," preceded by an original comedietta by S. Theyer Smith, entitled "A Happy Pair."

The parts were taken by local amateur talent, assisted by Mr. George W. Stevens of Toledo, and the performance was a rare one, considering the fact that the actors were not professionals. The occasion was also the dramatic debut of Miss Rose Hubbard, a former Toledo young lady and her excellent work greatly pleased her many friends.

As Mrs. Honeyton in the curtain raiser and as Mrs. Coddle in the comedy she showed decided ability and talent. She has a very pleasing stage presence and gave evidence of great promise, should she ever choose the stage as a profession.

Mr. Stevens, as Mr. Coddle, the eccentric, made the hit of the evening and gave a tone to the performance far above the average amateur drama.

Miss Henrietta Voight made a handsome and pleasing Mrs. Younghusband; Mrs. A. G. Whitney as Mrs. Lynx played her part in a manner second to none in the cast; Miss Susie Selkirk acted the part of Mrs. Dove to perfection and Miss Elizabeth Lacy as Mrs. Dismal was very good.

Of the gentlemen who took part Mr. Jas. Melville made a hit in the curtain raiser, as Mr. Honeyton; Mr. Albert J. Peters made an easy and taking Mr. Lynx; Mr. Chas. F. Selkirk, as Mr. Dove, acted a typical English fackey; Mr. Clark Colton in the part of Mr. Younghusband ably sustained his reputation and Mr. George Barker as Mr. Dismal could hardly have been excelled.

The audience showed their approval by plenty of hearty applause and at the conclusion felt well repaid for their evening.

RATHER PECULIAR.

Manner of Conducting Certain Insurance Companies.

A Toledo Man Has an Experience and Is Wiser but Poorer For It.

Some time ago, it will be remembered, the plant of the Spring Lake Ice company at Lake George, Mich., was destroyed by fire. The plant was insured for $10,000 and was a total loss.

Of this amount $1,000 had been placed by a local firm with a Cincinnati company. When C. S. Ashley endeavored to settle with this company he discovered that it had no agency in Lucas county.

He placed the case in the hands of W. H. Jackson, an attorney of Cincinnati, and the following letter from that gentleman to Mr. Ashley explains quite clearly what followed.

"Dear Sir—Since bringing suit in case of the Spring Lake Ice Co. v. the Western Insurance Co., I find that the Western Insurance Co. has transferred all of its assets to the Citizens' Insurance Co., and that all of the indebtedness of the Western has been assumed by the Citizens' company. The Citizens' Co. is now in the hands of trustees for a final adjustment and winding up of its affairs. I also find that both the Western and the Citizens' companies were chartered prior to the present constitution of Ohio, and that by their old charters, there is no liability for stockholders beyond the amounts of their original subscriptions.

"I am able to make a settlement with the trustees of the Citizens' Co. for $450 cash. I would by all means recommend that you take this. I doubt very much if we could make more, inasmuch as it would be difficult, if not impossible, to trace the assets of the Western, and as there is no individual stockholder's liability either the Western or the Citizens' company.

"I think this the very best that can be done. If you approve, send me the original policy of insurance to be delivered up and cancelled, and I will get check for $450 and remit to you. Advise me at once. Very truly yours,

"W. H. JACKSON."

THE BRIGGS CASE.

Two Reports Filed With the Presbyterian Assembly.

Portland, Ore., May 25.—The report of the judicial committee on appeal in case of trial of Dr. Briggs for heresy was sprung upon the assembly yesterday. It was read by Dr. Smith, of Buffalo, chairman, and was as follows: "Presbyterian Church in United States of America against Charles A. Briggs, appeal from the judgment of the Presbytery of New York dismissing the case. The judicial committee respectfully reports that it has carefully considered the documents submitted to it in this case and has adopted the following resolutions:

First, That in the opinion of this committee the appeal taken by the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America, and the original party represented by the committee of prosecution, appointed under section 11, book of discipline, has been taken from the final judgment of the presbytery in dismissing the case, and that said committee had the right to take this appeal representing said original party.

Second, That it finds that notice of appeal had been given and that the appeal specifications of error and record have been filed in accordance with sections 96 and 97 of the book of discipline and the appeal is in order.

Third, Resolved, That in the judgment of the committee the appeal should be entertained and time set apart for the hearing of the case. Committee reports that appeal is in order, and that the general assembly should proceed in accordance with the provisions of Section 99 of the book of discipline by causing judgment of the appeal and specifications of error alleged to have been read; then to hear the appellant by a committee of prosecution; then defendant in person or by his counsel; then appellant by committee of prosecution in reply upon the question "whether the appeal shall be entertained."

Immediately after the statement that the sessions of the committee had been entirely pleasant and harmonious, though not unanimous, a minority report was announced.

The document was read by Dr. Frazer, of Newark, and was as foows:

The undersigned, a minority of the judicial committee, would respectfully submit the following report:

Whereas, The book of discipline requires that the appeals are generally to be taken to the judiciary immediately superior to that appealed from, and

Whereas, There are sufficient reasons for making an appeal against the action of the presbytery of New York in dismissing the case against Dr. Briggs, an exception to this rule; therefore we recommend to the general assembly that the appeal be not entertained; that papers in case be returned to the appellant and that they be advised to bring their appeal or complaint before the synod of New York. Respectfully submitted,

T. R. FRAZER,
THOMAS GORDON,
OSWALD P. BACKUS,

A RUINED LIFE.

F. W. Tompkins Commits Suicide in Bay City.

Bay City, Mich., May 25.—Frederick W. Tompkins committed suicide yesterday by taking carbolic acid. He left this note:

"To the People:—Don't persecute my children for my faults. I have done this myself. Oh, Orren, God help you. Your object was for money. My blood is on you. God be merciful to me, a sinner."

"F. W. TOMPKINS."

Orren Ryerse is a brother-in-law of the deceased man and Tompkins said repeatedly that Orren inspired the suit for $15,000 damages which Tompkins brought against Warren Ellsworth for the alienation of his wife's affections, and had it not been for Ryerse the suit would not have been begun.

"GREEN GOODS" MEN

Have a Preliminary Hearing

Before U. S. Commissioner Beckham —Volkmar Must Stand Trial— Turner's Hearing To-day.

As announced in the Bee yesterday, the case of the United States v William F. Volkmar, alias White, and W. G. Turner, alias Tracy, was called at 3 o'clock in the district attorney's office, before United States Commissioner Beckham.

These men were arrested last Friday by Detectives Manley and Carew, and are charged with being "green goods" men.

Deputy Marshals Peet and Harmon brought the defendants over from the jail at 2 o'clock. They appeared very indifferent.

District Attorney Brinsmade arrived from Cleveland shortly before 3 o'clock, and until his arrival the prisoners were kept in the marshal's room. Before the hearing the district attorney consulted with Postoffice Inspectors Jacobs and Letherman, and it was decided to try the defendants separately. Volkman was first placed on the stand, and pleaded not guilty when the charge against him was read.

He gave his address as New York. Detective John Manley testified that on Friday last Detective John Carew and himself arrested the defendants at the corner of Summit and Madison streets as suspicious characters. Volkman had been stopping at the Hotel Madisan under the name of White, and Turner had been staying at the Boody under the name of Tracy. He had searched Volkmar's effects at the Madison, and had found a large quantity of confederate money, a circular drafted for forwarding to persons who were to be furnished with "green goods," and letters signed by C. W. Milton.

One of these circulars was produced as evidence, and the writing on it corresponded with a copy alleged to have been made by the defendant, Volkmar.

A circular had also been sent to Mr. Tucker, in the Chamber of Commerce. It is what is called by "green goods" men a "wake-up," and is sent as a reminder if no response is received to the first one.

Chief Postoffice Inspector J. F. Jacob, of Washington, testified to having shadowed both Turner and Volkmar in different places during the past two weeks; he knew them as experienced "green goods" men. He asked Volkmar some very pointed questions which confused him considerably.

At the conclusion of the hearing Commissioner Beckham committed Volkmar for trial with bail fixed at $2,000, which was finally reduced to $1,000 as Volkmar made an earnest plea for it.

The trial of Turner, alias Tracy, was set for 8:30, but it was not commenced until 10 o'clock. The charge was read and the defendant pleaded not guilty. The first witness called was Detective John Manley, who testified to having arrested Turner last Thursday, and turned him over to Detective Carew. He had searched his valise at his room at Hotel Madison and identified the articles shown him by the district attorney—namely a common red handkerchief, one package containing old paper on the inside, with confederate notes outside, and another package containing imitation confederate notes; also three "picture cards," as Col. Brinsmade called them, but could not swear as to what they were, as he had never seen a game of three card monte.

Saw Turner with Volkford on different occasions.

Mr. Carew was next called and substantiated Mr. Manley's evidence.

Mr. J. C. Rike was the next witness for the prosecution, and testified that several letters that were produced in evidence of the business the defendant was engaged in, had been received at the Toledo postoffice.

Postoffice Inspector Letherman, of Cincinnati, was called to the stand and testified the handwriting on the letters and circulars were identical.

The next witness was Postoffice Inspector Joseph E. Jacobs, whose headquarters are at Washington, and whose work has been chiefly in detecting "green goods" men and bringing them to justice. He had known Turner about 15 years; thought his principal occupation had been "book-making" on races; had never known him to be in the green goods business before.

Mr. Volkmar was next called. His testimony was very uncertain, and he declined to answer such questions as where his residence was and what was his business in Toledo on the grounds that it might incriminate himself.

At noon the prosecution rested and an adjournment was taken until 1:30, when Turner will be put on the stand to testify in his own behalf.

Turner was bound over to district court this afternoon, with bail fixed at $300.

NEW FLOURING MILL.

H. S. Walbridge Engineering a Great Enterprise

That Will Start on the East Side—Dickering About the Price of a Location.

For a week past a number of eastern capitalists have geen figuring with Mr. H. S. Walbridge for the erection of an immense flouring mill on the East Side.

The location has been selected, but there is somewhat of a hitch on the price. The owners ask $30,000 and the purchasers don't desire to pay over $25,000.

Mr. Walbridge was asked by a Bee this morning if the deal would go through.

"The matter has been kept very quiet," he said, "and the least said the better. Superior City and other towns are offering bonuses for such industries and we cannot be too careful. I am not interested except in bringing the owners of the property and the would-be purchasers together. No, I cannot give names. It will suffice to say that it will, if it comes, be the largest industry of the kind that Toledo has yet secured. I am afraid that unless the sellers are a little more reasonable, we may loose it. I don't say that the property is not worth all that is asked, but we cannot afford to miss the industry for the sake of $5,000.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

This Refers to Dorr Street.

To the Editor—Through a rich and delightfully situated portion of the great city of Toledo, extending along the line of many bright and cheerful homes, there passes a thoroughfare known as Dorr street.

The writer is amazingly ignorant in the definition and derivation of the names of our different streets, but if the word Dorr is in any way allied to the word door, signifying an entrance, I suggest the name of Back Dorr street, as it has a striking resemblance to the alley, or rear entrance to some of our aristocratic mansions, where people believe in putting the best foot foremost.

I believe the memory of man runneth not back to the time Dorr street was laid with oak plank. Several years ago when the writer located on the street, they were there; when asphalt began to be used they were there, and to-day, when Toledo is in the height of her prosperity—behold, they are there!

The street abounds in mud, water, sink holes and miry places, and is littered with horse shoes, pieces of broken vehicles and rotten plank, and as we approach the fair grounds, we see stagnant pools of dirty water, around which half famished hard-drinking ducks assemble, like boon companions, flapping their wings, chattering and quacking and making a furious noise over their liquor.

No traveler is safe on this street, unless he possesses an amphibious disposition, peculiar to ducks, eels and snapping turtles, and men who are accustomed to drive along this street and call at the residences, are invariably obliged to turn a double somersault to reach the sidewalk in safety. HARRY NYE CONVICTED.

Baumann's Evidence Sends Him Over.

The Toledo Counterfeiting Case Duplicated in the State of Indiana.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 25.—Harry G. Nye, of Ada, O., was placed on trial in the federal court to-day on the charge of passing a spurious $20 bill on Root & Co., a Fort Wayne dry goods house, last September. When Nye was arrested he took the matter with perfect coolness. He explained that he had received the bill in a letter from Frank Baumann, a prominent business man of Ada. Accordingly, when examined before a United States commissioner at Fort Wayne, Baumann came over and testified that he had sent the bill, supposing it to be good, and he further said he knew Nye to be all right. When the commissioner decided to hold the young man for trial, Baumann went on his bond and he was released.

Major Carter, of the goverment secret service, set on foot a careful investigation, which resulted in a confession from Baumann, who said he was hard-pressed for money at one time, and Harry Nye and his father (William Nye) had induced him to enter into a counterfeiting scheme, and that ever since that time they had compelled him to do whatever they pleased by means of threats to expose him.

He said he had not sent any money to Harry Nye, at Fort Wayne, but had been compelled by Nye to swear that he had, and to go on Nye's bond as well.

He agreed to turn state's evidence against the Nyes, and to do all he could to convict them, if Major Carter would not take him through Ada in handcuffs and would use his influence to get his penalty made as light as possible.

Baumann was a trustee of the Presbyterian church, a leading citizen, prominent in business, had the entire respect of the public, and his arrest and confession created a tremendous sensation.

On the witness stand Baumann swore to the essential points in the above story. He testified that when one of his bad bills would come back to him he would redeem it, and would immediately pass it again on somebody else. He said the Nyes supplied him with the money and that he believed they got it at Cincinnati. Baumann also swore that he went to New York at one time to buy green goods and was swindled out of $200 by the transaction.

Among the witnesses was W. R. Nye, now serving a term in the Ohio prison for counterfeiting. He was convicted at Toledo on the testimony of Baumann. The latter was indicted, but the charges against him were dismissed in consideration of his having turned state's evidence. The jury brought in a verdict of guilty in the case of Harry G. Nye.

IN HOLLAND.

League upon league of low and level land;
Long poplar lines and willows silvery;
Windmills with giant arms that seem to be
Uneasy ever; slender spires that stand
Against a changeful sky, now dark, now bland,
As veer the breezes from the northern sea;
Sleek herds that graze in meadows peacefully;
And waterways by small, quaint bridges spanned.

This land is Holland; but should ocean rise,
As on some murky night perchance it may,
And smite and burst the mighty barrier-wall,
Then there will lie, when dawns the grim, gray day,
A watery waste beneath the weeping skies,
Death and the sea triumphant over all.

To untie the knot requires observation and reasoning power, and though a monkey may possess both, he has neither in a sufficient degree to enable him to overcome the difficulty.

HER SISTER CLARE.

"Congratulate me, Lynn. I am to be married two weeks from to-night."

The young man thus addressed looked up from his work with the natural inquiry: "Who is the lady, Jack?"

"Miss Lancaster," was the reply, and Jack smiled happily as he repeated the name, while Lynn Fairfax bit his lip and wrote vigorously for a few minutes.

"You do not wish me happiness?" queried Jack.

"Certainly I do, old boy," and Lynn extended his hand, which the other grasped tightly.

"Thank you. I believe I'm the happiest man in town, and why shouldn't I be?"

"I'm glad, Jack; no reason why you shouldn't," was the grave reply, and Jack went whistling out of the office, while Lynn bent his dark head until it rested on the desk and remained so for some minutes.

Five years ago in the little village of Creston, Lynn Fairfax—then a young man of 22—met and loved the pretty schoolmistress, Edith Lancaster.

The long summer days passed pleasantly for both young people. But vacation time was near; Edith was going home and Lynn, only a clerk, could not ask the important question. So, after a long farewell and promises to be true, they parted, Edith returning to her home and Lynn returning to his everyday work in the hopes of finding better work before many months.

Not only months but years passed by, and still he worked at a clerk's desk, never despairing, though at times poverty stared him boldly in the face.

The correspondence between himself and Edith had gradually broken off, yet, still believing her true, he worked all the harder. At last luck seemed in store for Lynn.

Receiving a letter from an old friend he gratefully answered it, and found himself as cashier in a bank in a village not far from Creston.

After this he prospered greatly, and the flame of hope burned brighter than ever before.

It was one night while returning home he met his friend, Jack Danton, and a young lady by his side. They were coming toward him—the light of a street lamp fell full on the lady's face.

Lynn hastened by—he had seen Edith—Edith Lancaster. He knew now that she still lived. Jack would know where—and he could then go and proudly claim his bride.

"Jack, do you know of any family here by the name of Lancaster?" asked the cashier next morning as Jack entered the office.

"Yes," was the hasty reply.

"Is there a Miss Lancaster?"

Jack smiled. "Yes, a Miss Lancaster, Lynn. But why all these questions?"

Lynn turned to his work. "Oh, only a case of curiosity," he answered, and the subject was dropped.

Lynn saw Miss Lancaster and Jack very often after this, and felt sure that it was Edith, though she did not recognize him, and, unwilling to mar her happiness, he bore his sorrow in silence, until on the morning when Jack announced his marriage. After all the promises they had made, after all the years of hard work, Edith had proved false. Soon Jack's marriage was an event of the past.

One morning while Lynn was at his desk a letter was brought, addressed in the familiar hand. He hastily tore it open and scanned its contents.

It was only a brief invitation, but signed in the dear old way: "Yours—Edith."

The next evening found him in Creston, at the home of Edith's aunt, Miss Fuller.

What could it all mean? Where could Jack be and why was he sent for?

Miss Fuller met him in the parlor with a hearty welcome. "And Edith, poor child, will be so delighted," she said.

Lynn hastened to ask after Jack.

"Oh, he is in Tennessee," was the answer.

"And his wife? Did she not accompany him?"

"Oh, yes," was the reply.

Lynn was puzzled, but asked no more.

Presently Edith entered. Edith, the same as of old, though a trifle sadder.

He arose to greet her and took her extended hand.

"Mrs. Danton, I believe," very coldly. She looked surprised.

"Why, Lynn," she faltered.

"Are you not Mrs. Danton—Jack's wife?" he asked.

She laughed outright. Quick as a flash he remebered all. What a fool he had been! He had seen a face like Edith's and believed it to be hers. He had heard of a Miss Lancaster, and not knowing the Christian name believed it to be her, for thinking there was only one Miss Lancaster her name must be Edith.

He saw through the mistake plainly enough now and clasped Edith's hands.

"Who—who is Jack's wife? Some one whom you greatly resemble?"

She bowed and laughing wickedly, answered:

IMITATORS AND IMPOSTORS.

The unequalled success of Allcock's Porous Plasters as an external remedy has induced unscrupulous parties to offer imitations, which they endeavor to sell on the reputation of Allcock's. It is an absurdity to speak of them in the same category as the genuine porous plaster. Their pretensions are unfounded, their vaunted merit unsupported by facts, their alleged superiority or equality with Allcock's a false pretense.

The ablest medical practitioners and chemists and thousands of grateful patients unite in declaring Allcock's Porous Plasters the best external remedy ever produced.

Beware of imitations and do not be deceived by misrepresentation. Ask for Allcock's, and let no solicitation or explanation induce you to accept a substitute.

How's Your Liver?

Is the Oriental salutation, knowing that good health cannot exist without a healthy Liver. When the Liver is torpid the Bowels are sluggish and constipated, the food lies in the stomach undigested, poisoning the blood; frequent headache ensues; a feeling of lassitude, despondency and nervousness indicate how the whole system is deranged. Simmons Liver Regulator has been the means of restoring more people to health and happiness by giving them a healthy Liver than any agency known on earth. It acts with extraordinary power and efficacy.

NEVER BEEN DISAPPOINTED.

As a general family remedy for dyspepsia, Torpid Liver, Constipation, etc., I hardly ever use anything else, and have never been disappointed in the effect produced; it seems to be almost a perfect cure for all diseases of the Stomach and Bowels.

Care is necessary though, to obtain strictly pure, as the market is flooded with so-called Pure White Leads that in reality contain but very little white lead.

"Lion Brand White Lead. The side label reads as follows: "$100 in Gold. One hundred dollars in gold will be paid if the contents of this package is not pure. For whiteness, fineness, and covering properties it is unsurpassed by any other lead in the market. "Lion White Lead Works, Toledo, Ohio."

PASTURE AT $2 A MONTH!

I will take horses to pasture on my farm at Bay Shore. They will be looked after twice a day, be regularly salted and cared for. The pasture is part tame and part wild. When the tame pasture is exhausted, as is invariably the case in the middle of the summer, the wild pasture is rich and luxuriant, keeping the stock in prime condition the whole season.

The pasture fronts on the bay, so that the stock can stand in the water, which is of material benefit to horses which have become sore from being driven on the pavements. For further information address

FOUGHT FOR HIS FATHER

A Young Jew Resents an Insult.

Sensational Affair in Hungary.

The Young Man's Pluck Was Much Better Than His Workmanship.

Budapesth, May 24.—The traditional prejudice against Jews in Austrian court circles culminated to-day in a tragedy that may prove fatal to the Jew. Although the imperial house of Hapsburg has honored Jews with elevation to noble rank, and the government has no hesitation in accepting financial accommodations from Hebrews, the latter are still rigidly excluded from the inner and intimate court circle, both in Austria and Hungary.

As the anniversary of the emperor's coronation as king of Hungary is approaching, the list of the deputation whose duty it will be to receive Francis Joseph at the coronation fete has been made out.

This deputation is not exclusively composed of noblemen. The wealthy landowners of Hungary are represented in it, and owing to the stormy vicissitudes of Hungarian affairs within a half a century past these land owners are not always the descendants of ancient families. Sometimes a comparative parvenu gets into the deputation, but although there are several Jews among the great landowners no Hebrew has so far figured in the deputation.

This time a Hebrew named Karsay, who owns an extensive landed estate, obtained through the success in business of himself and immediate ancestry, was put on the list of those appointed to receive his majesty, the emperor and king, on the great occasion of the coronation fete.

Karsay was delighted with the honor which would put him on a level for the time being, with the proudest magnates of the land and gave him a distinct social elevation that would do much to efface any prejudice against him on account of his race.

He was proportionately excited and outraged, therefore, when he learned that the baron, Aczel Rosing, to whom the list of deputation had been submitted for revision, had deliberately erased his name and given as a reason the fact that Karsay was a Jew.

Karsay had a son with a good reputation for personal courage and he resolved to seek satisfaction for the outrage on his father's honor. He sent a challenge to the baron. The latter at first proposed to take no notice of it on the ground that it would degrade him to fight a duel with a Jew.

His friends, however, speedily gave him to understand that Karsay was a man received in good society: that his large ownership of land gave him a recognized standing, and that in view of Karsay's well known personal courage the baron's refusal would have an interpretation put upon it different from what he intended.

The baron there reconsidered his decision and consented to meet Karsay. The duel took place to-day. Both men were in deep earnest and young Karsay showed a resolution that surprised even those who knew him to be a man of courage. He told his friends that he intended either to die himself or to give the Jew-haters of Hungary and Austria a lesson they would remember. The two men fought with pistols. Karsay's aim was not good, but that of the baron was true to the mark. Young Karsay received a bullet in the chest and it is feared that he will die. The affair has created much excitement in Budapesth and cannot fail to cast a gloom over the coronation festivities.

A GREAT REMEDY

Is Dr. Hoxsie's Certain Croup Cure. It allays inflamed membranes, keeps the air passages of the throat clear, and renders croup a harmless disease. 50 cents.

KING AND QUEEN OF DENMARK.

The Golden Wedding Celebration in Copenhagen.

Copenhagen, May 24.—The celebration of the golden wedding of the king and queen of Denmark began to-day, when the members of the royal family attended holy communion at the residential palace of Amalienborg.

The empress of Russia, who arrived yesterday with the czar, has procured a unique and splendid present for her father and mother. The present consists of a team of six horses, perfectly white and of the rarest breeds. In order to get the six together the imperial farms of Russia had to be searched, and the gift is said to be one of the most beautiful and most costly ever offered to a European monarch.

Besides this gift of the czarina, the ruling families of Russia, England and Greece will make a magnificent joint present to the king and queen of Denmark. It is a group of sculpture by the Danish artist Husselrus, and will later be placed in one of the public squares of Copenhagen.

LYNCHED BY A MOB.

Little Rock, Ark., May 24.—Walter Smith, colored, assaulted a young white girl at Cabot about one week ago. He escaped and was arrested here yesterday. Officers took him to Cabot yesterday and a telegram last night states that Smith was taken from jail by a mob and hanged.

WORKING ALL THE CORNERS.

London, May 24.—A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Thomas O'Brien, the escaped bunco robber, so that he may at once be taken into custody should he land at any port in Great Britain. Vessels arriving from France are closely watched.

INDIAN TERRITORY DELEGATES.

South McAlister, I. T., May 24.—The territorial convention of the republican party was held here yesterday. One of the alternates is a negro. The delegates are uninstructed, but are for Harrison.

TO SLAY OR TO BE SLAIN, WHICH?

To attack the dragon of disease and annihilate him before his deadly talons grow, or to allow him to attain dangerous maturity and destroy us—that is the question of paramount importance to all afflicted with organic ailments. Among these, disorders of the kidneys and bladder are of the fatal order if unrestrained at the outset. Their growth is rapid, their culmination death. Bright's disease, ordinary nephritis, diabetes, catarrh of the bladder, gravel, suppression of the secretion, cannot be tampered with or disregarded safely. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is a superb depurative tonic, giving the due impulse, without excitation to the renal organs, besides strengthening and regulating them in common with the rest of the system. It infuses, too, vigor and regularity into the stomach, bowels and liver, successfully counteracts malaria and rheumatism, and is a pre-eminently fine tonic for the aged, the enfeebled and the convalescent.

IS PROBABLY DEAD.

Paris, May 25.—The police have been so far baffled in their search for M. Reymond, the faithless husband whose wife killed Madame Delaport-Lassimonne on Saturday night, when she discovered her husband in the woman's company. The theory is advanced by M. Reymond's friends that he has committed suicide through remorse.

CHARGED WITH FRAUD.

London, May 25.—True bills were found yesterday by the grand jury against Horatio Bottomley, Charles Dollman, Joseph Isaacs and Sir Henry Isaacs, the last-named being an ex-lord mayor of London, for defrauding the Hansard Union, a publication concern which failed some time ago with large liabilities.

QUARTER OF A MILLION CHECK.

Washington, May 25.—The executors of the will of the late Gen. George W. Cullom, of New York city, called on Secretary Elkins yesterday and presented him a check for $250,000, the amount of a bequest made by Gen. Cullom for the erection of a memorial hall at West Point military academy.

HOW HE GOT AWAY.

Bunco Man O'Brien Was Clever in all His Moves.

New Orleans, May 25.—O'Brien, the bunco steerer mentioned in dispatches last evening as being arrested in Havre, left here under the name of G. W. Garrett on the steamship Marseilles, of the French line.

He bought a ticket at the very last minute to avoid having his name known by appearing on the passenger list, missed the ship by half an hour, boarded a Norwegian fruiter and chased the ship to the mouth of the river, but the Marseilles was 16 miles at sea.

He got on board a speedy pilot tug, and after an all day chase overtook the ship.

LUTHERANS ARE DEMOCRATIC.

A Religious Gathering Takes Part in Politics.

Galena, Ill., May 25.—The Wisconsin district of the Evangelical Lutheran synod of Ohio and other states has closed its annual season, which lasted six days.

The final session was devoted to the consideration of the compulsory education law of Illinois, which led to the issuance of a manifesto which declares that the republican members of the legislature did not fulfill their promises to aid in effecting the repeal of the law, and closes by saying: "We therefore advise all Lutherans in the state of Illinois to support the democratic party at the next election as far as the state ticket is concerned."

THE PAPER WEIGHTS.

They Are Holding a Session on the Coast.

National Editorial Association Gathered in the Famous Metropolitan Temple.

San Francisco, May 25.—Editors and publishers whose names are household words in their respective localities, and coming from about every state and territory, completely filled the ground floor of the Metropolitan temple this morning. They were the delegates to the eighth annual convention of the National Editorial association, and they had celebrated the fourth centennial anniversary of the discovery of America by an excursion entirely across the continent.

Occupying a seat on the platform to the right of the chair was George W. Childs, the philanthropist publisher of the Philadelphia Ledger, who on his appearance was greeted with applause, repeated again and again.

The proceedings were opened by the presentation of the annual address by President W. F. Cappeller, who eulogized the fraternity and its achievements, and alluded to the progress which it had made in all parts of the country during the past year.

Among those from whom letters of regret were read were Hon. Chauncey Dana, J. A. Cockerell, New York Advertiser; Carter H. Harrison, Chicago Times; Henry Watterson, Louisville Courier-Journal, and R. P. Porter, New York Press. The committee on credentials reported over seven hundred accredited delegates, representing state press associations, publishers' associations, press clubs, women's press clubs, and similar organizations.

An interesting paper on journalism was presented by E. W. Stevens, of Columbia, Mo., ex-president of the association; and a well written poem by Miss Anna Cooper, daughter of the proprietor of the Denver Republican, was read.

At this afternoon's session Col. G. Sambole Jones, of Baton Rouge, La., presented a paper on "The Non-Political View of the Press in Relation to the Negro," which is likely to give rise to an animated discussion.

The circulation of daily papers in interior towns and cities will form the topic of a debate led by C. C. Doran, of Mansfield, O.

Miss Sallie M. Moses, of Chicago, will talk about women in journalism, and Matt Parrott, of Waterloo, Ia., will submit a paper deprecating the practice on the part of publishers of cheapening their own wares.

A CONSTITUTION.

Mississippi's Foundation Stands the Test.

Jackson, Miss., May 25.—Ever since the adoption and putting into force of the Mississippi constitution of 1890 its validity has been questioned for the reason that it was not submitted to the people for ratification, which it was claimed was necessary under the old constitution.

The supreme court yesterday settled the point, holding that the constitutional convention was the embodiment of the sovereignity of the people, and that it was competent to put into effect the new constitution without submission to be voted on.

This view was taken by the judiciary committee of the convention during its session, and the report made by Judge Wiley P. Harris, chairman, to the convention, has been sought after by lawyers and courts from all parts of the union.

NEW MUSIC.

A delightful transcription for the piano is John Wiegand's "Good Bye, Sweetheart, Good Bye" (the popular song by J. L. Hatton). It consists of two four-page folios, and one two-page leaf, and is brilliant in runs, trills and harmonies. Dedicated to Rose Clouse, of Toledo, and published by Ignaz Fischer, Toledo, and the Fischer house, New York; 80 cents.

From the same house, C. T. Sisson's "Tourist's March," full of lively music and good for practice. Price 50 cents.

"Turn Texas Loose," March song, of which over 50,000 copies are sold, is written by De Zonshe (the words), the music by Theo. H. Northrup. It's a "bright and booming" composition. Published by Thos. Goggan & Bro., Galveston, Texas; 40 cents.

THE MACHINE IS WORKING

Payne Adds His Voice to the General Cry.

Harrison Could Not Carry Wisconsin and Illinois Against Mr. Cleveland.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 25.—Henry C. Payne, the Wisconsin member of the national republican committee, in an interview to-day substantiates the report that he has written to Secretary Rusk saying that Harrison, if nominated, would lose Wisconsin and Illinois to the republican party.

He says that as against Cleveland, Harrison would lose these states on the school question. He thinks there are three republicans more available for the nomination than Harrison—Blaine, Rusk and McKinley, with the preferences in favor of Blaine.

PLAYED HIS CARDS NICELY.

Havre, May 25.—The officers of the steamer Marseilles said to-day that they did not know that O'Brien was a fugitive from justice. He behaved himself very quietly on the voyage and did not attract their notice in any way.

TO TROT OUT GRESHAM.

People's Party to Name Him for President.

Gresham and Polk Very Liable to be the Head and Tail of the Ticket.

Chicago, May 25.—(Special)—If some of the leaders have their way Judge Walter Q. Gresham will be the nominee for president of the people's party and farmers' alliance convention that assembles in Omaha on July 2 and makes its nominations on July 4, and he will have as a running mate Col. L. L. Polk, president of the National Farmers' Alliance and Industrial Union.

According to the present program it is proposed to take a leaf out of the book of republican suggestions and use it for all it is worth. Some of the republican forces are talking about nominating James G. Blaine with a hurrah, whether he wants it, or will take it, or no matter what else.

The people's party and alliance men aforesaid propose to nominate Gresham on the same lines. They know that he would not accept the nomination and lead the party; moreover, that even if he did it would have no chance of success, but they argue that Gresham's name at the head of the ticket would bring out a full vote of those who desire to protest against the present order of things, and that consequently in the event of his being made the nominee his declination would not make the slightest difference as long as an opportunity was afforded to the followers of the third party to vote for a man whom they know to be in hearty accord with their principles.

Moreover, it is argued that Judge Gresham's name would draw the suffrages of the immense floating element which does not vote for either the republican or democratic ticket, and would not vote for a people's party ticket except as a way of recording their admiration of Gresham as a man, statesman and jurist.

One of the leaders of the people's party, a man who is known to the labor and agricultural movement throughout the country, and whose writings on finance have been translated into half a dozen tongues, has just returned from a tour of nearly two-thirds of the states of the Union, and which was inaugurated soon after the St. Louis conference of February.

On this tour he has been in communication with third party men holding all the various ideas embodied in that platform, and his views are the above.

Garfield Tea is the tired housewife's best friend, freeing the body from aches and pains, creating a buoyancy of spirits and lovely complexion.

CATTLE THIEVES.

Douglas, Wyo., May 25.—It is reported that the small stockmen of Johnson county are shooting down on the ranches cows with calves following them and branding the calves, and that wholesale stealing of cattle is of daily occurrence.

HEALTHY. HAPPY. WHY?

Is he a bright child? Does he look healthy and happy? He is bright, and he is both healthy and happy. He is the little son of Mrs. Henry T. Bowers, wife of the well-known contractor and builder, who resides in Dorchester avenue, South Boston. Mrs. Bowers has had quite an experience with her children, which experience we give in her own words, as follows:

"I have a little boy two and one-half years of age, the perfect picture of rugged health, and also a little girl of four. I attribute their good health and good temper to the use of Dr. Hand's Remedies.

I have used, on occasion required, the entire line, and have had very marked results from the Colic Cure, Cough and Croup Medicine, and the Pleasant Physic. I have never had any but good result from the use of any of them."

No mother would make a statement like the above unless she knew wholly whereof she affirmed.

A little book, illustrated, full of sense and suggestion, will be sent to any one in the land, FREE.

DRS. FRANCE AND OTTMAN, of New York, the well known and successful Specialists in Chronic Diseases and Diseases of the Eye and Ear, on account of their large practice in Ohio, have established the FRANCE MEDICAL INSTITUTE, where all forms of Chronic, Nervous and Private Diseases will be successfully treated on the most Scientific principles. They are ably assisted by a full corps of eminent Physicians and Surgeons, each one being a well known specialist in his profession

CANCER positively cured without pain or use of the knife, by a new method.

YOUNG MEN—Who have become victims of solitary vice, that dreadful and destructive habit, which annually sweeps to an untimely grave thousands of young men of exalted talent and brilliant intellect, may call with confidence.

DRS. FRANCE AND OTTMAN, after years of experience, have discovered the greatest cure known for weakness in the back and limbs, involuntary discharges, impotency, general debility, nervousness, langnor, confusion of ideas, palpitation of the heart, timidity, trembling, dimness of sight, or giddiness, diseases of the head, throat, nose, or skin, affections of the liver, lungs, stomach, or bowels—those terrible disorders arising from the solitary vice of youth—and secret practices, blighting their most radiant hopes or anticipations, rendering marriage impossible. Take one candid thought before it is too late. A week or month may place your case beyond the reach of hope. Our method of treatment will speedily and permanently cure the most obstinate case, and absolutely restore perfect manhood.

TO MIDDLE-AGED MEN.—There are many from the age of 30 to 60 who are troubled with frequent evacuations of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight burning or smarting sensation, weakening the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. On examination of the urinary deposits, a ropy sediment will be found, or the color will be a thin or milkish hue. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is a second stage of seminal weakness. We will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

DISEASES OF WOMEN.—We have a special department, thoroughly organized, and devoted exclusively to the treatment of diseases of women. Every case consulting our specialists, whether by letter or in person, is given the most careful and considerate attention. Important cases, and we get few which have not baffled the skill of all the home physicians) have the benefit of a full council of skilled specialists. In treatment of diseases peculiar to females, our success has been marked, over two-thirds of our patrons being ladies, old, young, married, single, from every section. Our method is entirely free from objectionable features of the general practitioner, namely, "Local treatment." We seldom find it necessary. We prepare remedies, constitutional and local, as the case demands, and instruct ladies how to treat themselves.

MARRIAGE.—Married persons, or young men contemplating marriage, aware of physical weakness, loss of procreative powers, impotency, or any other disqualification, speedily restored.

PRIVATE DISEASES.—Blood Poison, Venereal Taint, Gleet, Stricture, Seminal Emissions, Loss of Sexual Power, Weakness of Sexual Organs, Want of Desire in Male or Female, whether from imprudent habits of youth or sexual habits of mature years, or any cause that debilitates the sexual functions, speedily and permanently cured. In a year he will be seeking affidavits to prove that he was not the man that hatched out the bill at all.

THE DENNISON MURDERER.

Believed That He Has Been Arrested in Missouri.

Sedalia, Mo., May 25.—It is believed that the man who committed the brutal crime of killing four women in Dennison, Tex., last week, was arrested here last night.

He was arrested in the telegraph office while the man was asking for a message. The Dennison authorities had asked Chief of Police De Long to be on the lookout for one T. J. Williams, claiming to be a railroad man. A watch was kept on the postoffice and telegraph offices, with the result that last night when a young white man, aged 23 years, stepped up to the counter and called for a message to that name he was at once taken into custody. Williams denies all knowledge of the crimes.

Particular attention is called to our superb line of Demi-Flounces in Chantilla and Point d'Ireland; also beautiful Jet and Colored Gimps. LAMSON BROS.

Mr. John N. Mockett returned from New York last night. He says that next week he will be prepared to show to his patrons some of the choicest and most recent productions in little boys' suits as now worn in the east. He also says that he has closed out some fine lines in men's suits and gentlemen's furnishing goods at much below their value. FORT WAYNE GETS IN.

St. Paul at Last Finds a Successor.

No Sunday Ball at Minneapolis.

A Change in Toledo's Batting Order Helps to Win a Game—General Sporting Gossip.

A dispatch to the Bee last night gave the information that Ft. Wayne had been voted into the Western League to take the place of the "Outcasts," formerly the St. Pauls. On this subject the Ohio State Journal this morning says:

"The disposition of the St. Paul base ball club has at last been determined. After the conclusion of the series at Kansas City, beginning to-day, the club will go to Fort Wayne and play out the schedule. Milwaukee will take the place of St. Paul in the western circuit of the league, and Fort Wayne, Indianapolis, Toledo and Columbus will make up the eastern section.

"The backing of the Fort Wayne club is gilt-edged, but it is doubtful whether the town is large enough to give it proper support. However, time will tell the story. It is said that when the city had a club in the Two-eyed league the crowds averaged 1,200 per game. If those figures are correct the support will be all right.

"The distance to Denver was an insurmountable barrier to her claims."

The inside truth of the matter is, however, that it was a ground hog case with the league and Fort Wayne had to be taken. Denver did not enthuse to the proper degree and the time at which St. Paul's games could be transferred was drawing to a close.

Fort Wayne was taken to keep the circuit alive, and it is very probable that the league is still supporting the club.

A telegram from Minneapolis in this issue says that city has gone back on Sunday base ball, and also that the people are very chilly on week day ball.

The batting order of the Toledo club was changed Tuesday and Toledo downed the Columbus team. While the batting order had considerable to do with the victory it was not wholly responsible for it as Columbus' errors gave Toledo seven runs. Armour, who has not played at his best, was replaced by Ollie Pecord yesterday. Ollie did not have much chance to show his work but got what came his way. It was an exciting game and Columbus had it won in the sixth had not Toledo got onto Stephens' delivery and batted out some runs. O'Day took Stephens' place in the box in the eighth. Clarke put up a good game. Attendance light. The score:

NEW DEPARTURE IN BASE BALL.

A Most Remarkable Game With Some Very Novel Features.

A distressing and ominous report comes from Kentucky. This is nothing less than that the revolver has entered into baseball there. The revolver in politics has been long and favorably known in Kentucky, but the revolver in base ball is a new thing. Heretofore, in Kentucky, as elsewhere, the bats, together with a few clubs torn from the dismantled grand stand, have been sufficient to settle any little disputes over the umpires' decisions, but with the introduction of the six-shooting revolver of large Kentucky caliber, an entirely different aspect is put upon the game.

The first use of the revolver as an implement for heightening the interest of our national game is reported from Calhoun, Ky., on the Green river, says the New York Tribue. A few days ago a game was played between the Calhoun Game Cocks, and a picked nine of Green River raftsmen. To promote harmony and foster mutual respect, it was agreed that each man should wear his revolver while playing. This had no effect on the game except somewhat to retard the base runners and outfielders, since the Kentucky pistol weighs from three to five pounds, and in a measure it accounts for the high score of 64 to 58 at the end of the seventh inning.

It also demanded and brought out several new rulings, such for example, as that the base runner when he drops his pistol has a right to go back after it. In the third inning with the Game Cocks at bat, one of them struck a high fly to left field, which was in imminent danger of being caught by a Raftsman fielder, when Capt. Crouse, of the Game Cocks, took a shot at the ball and knocked it away from the fielder. The umpire ruled against this, and declared the batsman out. In the next inning one of the Raftsmen being unable to hit the curves of the Game Cock's battery, drew his revolver and began shooting recklessly at the ball as it went past. This practice was also ruled out. Serious trouble was developed just before the end of the seventh inning. Hudson, one of the Raftsmen, was attempting to steal third, when Catcher Irving threw the ball to the third baseman. Hudson saw that he would be out, and stopped half way, drew his weapon, and, covering the baseman, ordered him to throw up his hands. The baseman obeyed and allowed the ball to strike him heavily in the stomach. Hudson took the base amid great excitement. The Game Cocks claimed a foul. The umpire showed some little hesitancy, it being a novel case, when the shortstop drew his pistol and winged him from his place in the field. The uncertain umpire was carried from the ground by spectators. General firing followed. At the end of the inning the score stood three to one in favor of the Raftsmen, as we gather from the dispatch, which said in closing: "A raftsman from Hartford, named Hudson, a barber named George Irving, of Calhoun, and a fruit tree salesman from Evansville, were shot and mortally wounded."

The poor old Game Cocks seem to have lacked the requisite lightness and freedom on the trigger.

The introduction of the repeating pistol into the game of base ball in Kentucky means much. It is not a matter to be lightly passed over, as the Kentucky rate of mortality will soon show. Its effect will be watched with great interest by statiscians and others.
